STAFF BIOGRAPHIES

GENERAL MANAGER
GEORGE YOUNG

GEORGE YOUNG—General Manager—After 11 years of distinguished service with the Baltimore Colts and Miami Dolphins, 50-year-old George Young was named General Manager of the Giants on February 14, 1979. During his tenure with Baltimore and Miami, Young had been closely associated with Don Shula at both franchises and had served in a variety of capacities. He was initially brought into the Colts' organization in 1968 by Shula as an assistant in the Personnel Department, then was named offensive line coach in 1970. That year, the Colts went all the way to the Super Bowl and won that Super Bowl 16-13 over the Dallas Cowboys. In 1971, George became Director of Player Personnel for the Colts and continued in that role until 1973 when new head coach Howard Schnellenberger named him Offensive Coordinator and line coach. In 1974, Young rejoined Shula with the Miami Dolphins in the Personnel Department and at the time he was named by the Giants, was Director of Personnel and Pro Scouting for Miami. His areas of responsibility at Miami included the negotiating of veteran and rookie player contracts, the study and evaluation of all NFL players for trade and waiver acquisitions, the scouting of opponents and the presentation of those scouting reports to the Miami players. He was additionally very active in Miami's college scouting and drafting. Shula had described Young as "an outstanding individual who has been my right hand man." George Bernard Young was born on September 22, 1930 in Baltimore, Md., and was an outstanding football player at Calvert Hall College H.S. in Baltimore. He went on to Bucknell University where he was a starting defensive tackle for three seasons, team captain in 1951, and was named to the Little All-American first team and All-East first team in his senior year. Selected to play in the Blue-Gray game after his senior season, he was drafted by the Dallas Texans and after playing one season, began a coaching career in the Baltimore school system at City College H.S. Over a span of 15 years, Young's teams won six Maryland State championships, and at one time had an overall 60-12 record while winning those State championships. Additionally, Young was an educator while coaching in Baltimore, teaching History and Political Science. While teaching in Baltimore, Young earned two Master's degrees from Johns Hopkins University and Loyola College. George and his wife, Kathryn, reside in Upper Saddle River, N.J.

RAY PERKINS

RAY PERKINS—Head Coach—3rd Year—Ray Perkins was named Head Coach of the Giants in February of 1979—the 11th Head Coach in New York Giants' club history. The 39-year-old Perkins, a former wide receiver with the Baltimore Colts, came to the Giants from the San Diego Chargers where he had been Offensive Coordinator in 1978, helping the Chargers to a 9-7 finish in the AFC Western Division. San Diego won seven of its last eight games in 1978 and scored 355 points in the season—the highest total in the AFC West, and Perkins was credited with being the architect of that offensive improvement, particularly in the development of QB Dan Fouts who finished the season as the No. 2 rated passer in the AFC behind Terry Bradshaw. Prior to his assignment with the Chargers, Perkins had been receivers and tight ends' coach with the New England Patriots for four years. Born in Mount Olive, Miss., on November 6, 1941, Ray was an all-around scholastic star at Petal High School in Petal, Miss., then matriculated to the University of Alabama where he was a standout split end under the legendary Paul "Bear" Bryant. Despite missing a year because of a head injury, Perkins harvested numerous honors at Alabama. As a receiver for both Joe Namath and Ken Sabler, Perkins won All-American honors in 1966, was the Most Valuable Player in the Southeastern Conference that same year; was elected co-captain his senior season, won both the Atlanta and Birmingham Touchdown Club Awards in 1966, and played in two Orange Bowl games and one Sugar Bowl. When Alabama defeated Nebraska 39-28 to win the National Championship in the 1966 Orange Bowl, Perkins set an Orange Bowl record by catching 10 passes in the first half. A 7th round "future" choice of the Baltimore Colts, the 6-0, 185-pound Perkins spent five seasons with the Colts, working with Johnny Unitas, appearing in two NFL title games and Super Bowls with Baltimore. In those five seasons, before a knee injury cut short his career, Ray caught 93 passes for 1,538 yards in 11 touchdowns. He retired as a player in 1972 and went immediately into coaching, with his first stop at Mississippi State as receivers coach. A year later, he began his NFL coaching career with the Patriots under Chuck Fairbanks. After his first year as head coach of the Giants, Ray was honored by being named head coach of the South squad in the annual Senior Bowl game in Mobile. Perkins is married to the former Carolyn Martin of Winsboro, Tex., and is the father of two sons—Tony, 17, and Mike, 14.

TERRY BLEDSOE

TERRY BLEDSOE—Assistant General Manager—After five years as Assistant Executive Director of the NFL Management Council, Bledsoe joined the Giants as Assistant Director of Operations in June 1978, and brings with him an extensive background in labor and player relations. Before joining the Management Council, the 46-year-old Bledsoe was a sportswriter and columnist for the Milwaukee Journal for 11 years, with his principal coverage centering on the Green Bay Packers from 1962-73 and on Marquette University 1962-68. He additionally wrote a general sports column from 1968-73 and was three times the Wisconsin Sportswriter of the Year. Born in Chicago, Terry was brought up in Clinton, Iowa, after his father had been killed in the Battle of the Bulge in 1945. He began his collegiate career at St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa, then went on to the University of Iowa where he graduated with a degree in Journalism in 1956. A resident of Yorktown Heights, N.Y., Terry and his wife Shirley have six children—Ann 24, a graduate of Marquette; Chris, 22, Tom, 21, who is at Dartmouth; Katie, 20; Carolyn, 17 and Ellie, 15.

TOM BOISTURE

TOM BOISTURE—Director of Player Personnel—Joined the Giants in the Spring of 1980 from the New England Patriots where he had served for 10 years as a scout, chief scout and in the personnel department. Born on March 23, 1931 in Detroit, Tom played his high school sports at Holy Redeemer H.S. in Detroit, then won three varsity letters as both an offensive and defensive lineman at Mississippi State where he earned a BS degree in Education and History. He began his teaching and coaching career at Austin Catholic H.S. in Detroit where he was head football coach, then continued as a head coach at St. Ambrose H.S. in Detroit. He moved into the collegiate ranks at the University of Houston as an assistant coach for offensive backs, then moved on to Holy Cross College in 1966 as Defensive Coordinator. He was named Head Coach at Holy Cross in 1967 and upset Yale in his first game as a head coach—the only defeat Yale was to suffer in three years. In 1969, Tom moved on to Tulsa University as Defensive Coordinator, and in 1970 moved into the NFL with New England as a scout. Married to the former Dolores Ann Kenney of Detroit, Tom now resides in Woodcliff Lakes, N.J. and has five children—daughters Susan Ann, Deborah Lynn and Nancy Ann, and sons David and Michael. Dave, 22, was a quarterback at Holy Cross.

JERRY SHAY

JIM TRIMBLE

JERRY SHAY—College Personnel Director—Former Giants' defensive tackle Shay was named Chief Scout in 1977 and as such, had much to do with the past five drafts. Jerry joined the Giants' scouting department in 1972 and served as the club's scout in the Western States area, including all of the West Coast as well as in the areas of Wyoming, Montana and the Dakotas. Born in Gary, Ind., the 36-year-old Shay was an All-American star at Purdue University and was the No. 1 draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings in 1966. He was a starting DT for the Vikes for two years, then was traded to the Atlanta Falcons in 1968 where he again starred for two seasons before coming to the Giants in a trade in 1970. Jerry was a key performer that season as the Giants finished 9-5 and missed the playoffs by one game. A year later, he suffered a broken leg and retired after the 1971 season after appearing in only six games, and became a scout the following season. Born on July 10, 1944 (family name Dzedzeji), Jerry is married to the former Cynthia Zajkowski, has three daughters, Tiffany Lee; Shannon Marie; and Jeri Lynn, and resides in San Diego, Calif.

JIM TRIMBLE—Director of Pro Personnel—Few men in professional football are better qualified than Jim Trimble to handle the role of Director of Pro Personnel, an assignment he shouldered at the start of the 1969 season when the Giants reorganized their administrative staff. As Director of Pro Personnel, Trimble serves with Head Coach Ray Perkins and General Manager George Young works closely with members of the scouting staff and generally handles the myriad of details and personnel problems that result from the ever widening range of pro football activity. Whatever the problems, though, it is likely that Jim has encountered them somewhere along the line during his 40 years in football. His background in the game is not only broad, it is also very successful. He was head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles (1952-56), the Hamilton Tiger Cats (1956-62) and the Montreal Alouettes (1963-65) and rarely was he ever on the losing side. His NFL record with the Eagles was 27-20-2. In Canada, he compiled an overall record of 77-61-2 and was named Coach of the Year in 1961. Additionally, he served in the dual role of head coach and general manager.

RAYMOND WALSH JR.

ERNIE ADAMS

RAYMOND WALSH JR.—Research and Development—Ray has been with the Giants since 1973, initially as an Administrative Assistant, and more recently in scouting and player and personnel evaluation. Born in New York City on February 11, 1942, Ray, who is also known by his nickname “Whitey,” is a 1959 graduate of Archbishop Stepinac H.S. in White Plains, where he grew up, and later earned a degree in Inter-American Relations at Fordham University in 1963. After a tour of duty in the U.S. Army, he joined United Airlines in 1965 in the Passenger Service department, and remained with United until April of 1973 when he joined the Giants. In his earlier days as a youngster, Ray worked at Giants’ pre-season training camps in the 1956-63 era. Married to the former Judith Carey, Ray is the father of a son, David, 8; and a daughter, Susan, 6, and resides in Ramsey, N.J. Aside from football, Ray is an avid British History buff, particularly the medieval period.

ERNIE ADAMS—Offensive Assistant—3rd Year—The youngest member of the Giants’ staff, the 28-year-old Adams has already had a diversified background in both collegiate and professional football in the relatively short span since his graduation from Northwestern University in 1975. Born on March 31, 1953 in Waltham, Mass., Ernie graduated from Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., then matriculated to Northwestern. While at Northwestern, under head coaches Alex Agase and John Pont, Ernie quickly developed his interest in football by assisting the coaching staff as a game scout, as an undergraduate assistant on the freshman football team, and subsequently with the varsity in similar roles, working in all aspects, including on-the-field work with tight ends. Upon graduation, Adams was immediately hired by the New England Patriots and spent four seasons with the Patriots as the Administrative Assistant to Chuck Fairbanks. Included in his duties with the Patriots were all aspects of the football operation, including computer analysis, statistical evaluation and film coordination. As an aide to Ray Perkins, Ernie continues in those capacities with the Giants, as well as in the on-the-field work with the offensive unit.

BILL AUSTIN

BILL AUSTIN—Offensive Line—3rd Year—Veteran coach Bill Austin was named to the Giants' staff just prior to the 1979 regular season opener, replacing Dick Scesniak who resigned for personal reasons. A native of San Pedro, Calif., the 51-year-old Austin was a star tackle at Oregon State, then joined the New York Giants as an offensive guard in 1949. Two years later he was called into the U.S. Army but returned to the Giants in 1953 and played through the 1957 season, winning All-NFL honors in 1954. After one season as an assistant coach at Wichita University, Austin was named offensive line coach for the Green Bay Packers by Vince Lombardi and remained with the champion Packers through 1964. He then joined the Los Angeles Rams for the 1965 season, and in 1966 was named head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers. After three years as head coach of the Steelers, Austin rejoined Lombardi with the Washington Redskins as offensive line coach, and upon Lombardi's death in 1970, became head coach of the Redskins for the 1970 season. In 1971, Austin went to the Chicago Bears as an assistant, and then to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1972. He returned to Washington as offensive line coach in 1973 and continued there through the 1977 season when he entered private business in Chicago.

BILL BELICHICK

BILL BELICHICK—Special Teams and Linebackers—3rd Year—At 29, Belichick is one of the youngest assistant coaches in the NFL, yet came to the Giants after four years of experience within the NFL at Baltimore, Detroit and Denver. Bill was born on April 16, 1952 in Nashville, Tenn., and comes from an athletic family. His dad, Steve Belichick, was a fullback with the Detroit Lions in 1941, and has been assistant coach at the U.S. Naval Academy for 26 years. Bill starred in several sports at Annapolis H.S., Md., and at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., before entering Wesleyan University where he earned three varsity letters in football as a center and tight end; four letters in lacrosse and three in squash. In 1975, he joined the Baltimore Colts as an assistant to the coaching staff, then in 1976 moved to the Detroit Lions where he spent two seasons as an assistant special teams' coach and also worked with receivers and tight ends. In 1978, Bill joined the Denver Broncos as an assistant special teams' coach and Film Coordinator before joining the Giants' staff. An Economics major at Wesleyan, Belichick was a National Honor Society designee in high school and a fraternity president in college. Bill and his wife, the former Debby Clarke, reside in Chatham, N.J.

ROMEO CRENNEL

ROMEO CRENNEL—Special Assignments, Special Teams and Defense—1st Year—This will be Crennel's first season on the professional level after a coaching career on the collegiate level. Crennel joins the Giants from Georgia Tech where he was the defensive line coach during the 1980 season. The 33-year-old Crennel was a high school standout at Fort Knox, Ky., then played his college football at Western Kentucky University where he lettered for four seasons as a defensive lineman. He was team captain, All-Conference and Western Kentucky MVP in the 1969 season, earning a BS in Physical Education. He remained at Western Kentucky as a graduate assistant, earning a Master's Degree in 1970, then became a fulltime coach at Western Kentucky from 1971-74. He then moved on to Texas Tech University as a defensive assistant from 1975-77, then was named defensive end coach at the University of Mississippi in 1978. He remained with Ole Miss for two seasons before being named defensive line coach at Georgia Tech in 1980. Crennel and his wife, Rosemary, have three children—Lisa, Tiffany and Kristin.

FRED GLICK

FRED GLICK—Defensive Backs—1st Year—Joined the Giants in January, 1981, from the New Orleans Saints where he was defensive backfield coach during the 1980 campaign. Prior to joining New Orleans, Fred was the defensive secondary coach for the St. Louis Cardinals for two seasons (1978-79) under Bud Wilkinson. A native of Aurora, Colorado, Glick was both a quarterback and defensive back at Colorado State University, then began his NFL career as a defensive back with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1959. After two seasons with St. Louis, Glick moved on to become a star safety with the Houston Oilers, winning All-AFL honors for three straight years (1962-63-64) and setting an AFL record with 12 interceptions during the 1963 season. He began his coaching career in 1968 as a defensive backfield coach with New Mexico State, then served in similar capacities at the University of Arizona (1969-72) and at Arizona State (1973-77) until he joined the Cardinals under Wilkinson. Fred and his wife, Marlene, have three children—Greg, David and Kathy.

PAT HODGSON

LAMAR LEACHMAN

PAT HODGSON—Receivers—3rd Year—Hodgson came to the Giants from the San Diego Chargers where he worked with Ray Perkins as receivers' coach in 1978, helping develop the outstanding rookie WR John Jefferson. A former collegiate star at the University of Georgia, the 37-year-old Hodgson played two seasons in the NFL, 1966 with the Washington Redskins and 1967 with the Minnesota Vikings—before entering the coaching field in 1968. His first stop was at Georgia, his alma mater, where he was head offensive coach for the Georgia freshman team for three seasons. In 1971, he moved to Florida State as receivers' coach, then returned to Georgia in 1972 as quarterbacks and receivers' coach for six seasons. He was named to a similar position at Texas Tech University in 1978, then moved on to the San Diego Chargers' staff. Born on January 30, 1944 in Columbus, Ga., Pat played high school sports at both Upper Arlington H.S. in Columbus, Ohio and at Westminster in Atlanta, Ga., before entering the University of Georgia. He won three letters at Georgia as a tight end, was All-SEC in both 1963 and 1965, co-captain in 1965 and honorable mention All-America. Elected MVP at Georgia in 1965, Pat played in the Coaches All-American game, won the Athens Touchdown Club award that same year, and held the Georgia record for most catches in one game—9 vs. Miami in 1963. Pat and his wife, Laura, reside in Allendale, N.J. Pat has two sons, Pat Jr., 12, and Chris, 10.

LAMAR LEACHMAN—Defensive Line—2nd Year—Leachman came to the Giants in February, 1980 after a two-year stint as Defensive Coordinator with the Montreal Alouettes of the CFL. Prior to his assignment with Montreal, Leachman had held a similar position with the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL for three seasons prior to joining the Alouettes. Born on August 7, 1934 in Cartersville, Ga., Lamar played his high school sports at Cartersville H.S., then went on to the University of Tennessee where he gained honorable mention All-American recognition as a center-linebacker under Bowden Wyatt. After graduation, Leachman began his coaching career in Savannah, Ga., with Chatham County Public School as head coach, and remained there until 1966 when he was named as assistant coach at Richmond University. After a two-year stint there, Lamar moved on to Georgia Tech as an assistant coach for four seasons, and from there joined Memphis State University as defensive coordinator in 1972. He was subsequently the defensive coordinator at the University of South Carolina, then entered the professional ranks in 1974 as defensive coordinator for the New York Stars of the now-defunct WFL.

BOB LORD

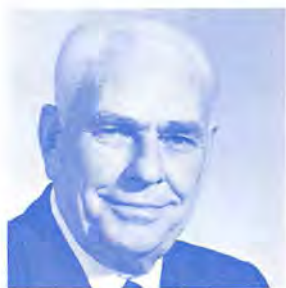

BILL PARCELLS

BOB LORD—Offensive Backfield—3rd Year—A native of Moscow, Maine, Lord has coached at every level in football—high school, collegiate and in the professional ranks. The 51-year-old Korean War veteran came to the Giants from the Green Bay Packers in 1979, where he was an assistant to Bart Starr for four seasons, two as special teams' coach, and the last two as offensive backfield coach. Before his tenure with Green Bay, Lord has been special teams and linebackers' coach for the Chicago Bears in 1974. Born on February 3, 1930, Lord was one of the alltime all-around sports stars at Brunswick High School winning a total of 12 varsity letters in four sports. Following graduation, Lord entered the Army, spending the next four years in uniform, including a 2½ year tour in the Korean conflict. Following his discharge, Bob enrolled at Colorado State University where he won four letters in football as a running back. He began his coaching career after graduation, remaining in the Colorado area to coach at Hotchkiss H.S. in Colorado, then moved on into the collegiate ranks at Wesleyan University, Conn. His subsequent assignments included Head Coach positions at North Park College, Illinois, and Macalester College, Minnesota; then as an assistant at Wake Forest and the University of Massachusetts before he joined the Chicago Bears in 1974. As special teams' coach for the Packers in '75-76, he developed one of the NFL's top units before moving on to the offensive backfield job in '77-78.

BILL PARCELLS—Defensive Coordinator and Linebackers—1st Year—Comes to the Giants from the New England Patriots where he served as Linebackers Coach during the 1980 season. A native of Englewood, N.J., he was a standout high school star at River Dell H.S. in Oradell, N.J., then became an All-Missouri Valley Conference linebacker at Wichita State (1961-63), playing in the Blue-Gray game and the College All-Star game. Opting for a coaching career, rather than pursuing an NFL playing career, Parcels began his coaching background at Hastings College in Nebraska in 1964, then returned to Wichita State as defensive line coach the following year. He moved on to West Point as linebacker coach from 1966-69, then assumed a similar job at Florida State for three seasons (1970-72). He was named defensive coordinator at Vanderbilt in 1973, and was then the defensive coordinator at Texas Tech from 1975-77 before being named Head Coach at the Air Force Academy in 1978. He was named as an assistant by the Giants in 1979, but resigned for personal reasons and returned to private business before accepting the post with the Patriots in February of 1980. Bill and his wife, Judith, have two daughters—Suzy and Jill—and a son, Dallas.

JIM WILLIAMS

JIM LEE HOWELL

JIM WILLIAMS—Strength, Flexibility and Conditioning—3rd Year—For the first time in club history, the Giants have an assistant coach for strength, flexibility and conditioning...and the coach is Jim Williams, named to the Giants' staff in April 1979. The 33-year-old Williams came to the Giants from the University of Wyoming where he had been director of conditioning and weight training for two years. Prior to his assignment in Wyoming, Williams had been director of the strength program at the University of Arkansas for three seasons, where he developed and supervised all such programs for the Arkansas football, basketball, track and field, swimming and baseball teams on the varsity level. Prior to that, he was an assistant strength coach at the University of Nebraska, his alma mater, for two years. While at Nebraska as an undergraduate, Williams was a member of the Nebraska varsity gymnastics team as well as the weightlifting team.

JIM LEE HOWELL—Special Scout, Consultant—After 44 years with the Giants in full-time capacity as a player, coach and personnel director, Jim Lee retired in May, 1980 but will remain with the Giants as a special scout and personnel consultant. It was back in 1937 when Jim first joined the Giants as an end from the University of Arkansas, and he was a starter for nine seasons, 1937-42 and 1946-48, with his playing career interrupted by World War II service as a Marine Captain in the South Pacific. Howell's record speaks boldly for itself. During his nine years as a player (1937-42, 1946-48), the Giants posted a mark of 53-37-9 and played in four world championship games (1938-39-41-46). After his playing days, the 6-6 Arkansas served as end coach under Coach Steve Owen from 1949-53 and when Owen departed after the 1953 campaign, Jim Lee was named head coach. The winning pattern Howell had established as a player continued during his reign as coach. Over the next seven years, the Giants won 55 games, lost just 29 and tied four, and they made the world championship games three times, beating the Bears in 1956 and losing classic struggles to the Colts in 1958-59.

ROSEY BROWN

ROSEY BROWN—Scout—Hall of Famer Roosevelt Brown's appointment to the Giant's scouting staff in 1971 signaled the beginning of yet another era in his outstanding career with the ball club. From 1953 through 1965, Rosey ranked as one of the all-time great offensive linemen in the National Football League, a big, fast, wide-ranging tackle, who earned All Pro honors eight times, was selected to play in the Pro Bowl on ten occasions and, in 1956, was voted Lineman of the Year in the NFL. When a phlebitis condition forced him to retire in 1966, Brown was immediately named assistant line coach by the Giants, a post he held until 1969 when he became head line coach, replacing Jim Trimble. In 1971, Brown, along with another coaching aide, Ken Kavanaugh, left Alex Webster's staff to assume new responsibilities under Jim Lee Howell, his onetime coach, in the scouting department. Rosey, now 50, is a resident of Teaneck, N.J., but spends a good deal of his time on the road in search of fresh talent for the Giants.

FRANK (POP) IVY

FRANK (POP) IVY—Scout—With the start of the 1972 NFL season, Frank (Pop) Ivy began his second tour of duty as a scout for the Giants. A veteran of head coaching assignments in three major professional leagues (the NFL, AFL and Canada), Ivy first joined the Giant organization as defensive line coach in 1965. He held that post through the 1966 season and then left to head up scouting operations in the southwest. Coach Alex Webster talked Pop back into coaching in 1971 and he returned to New York from his home in Norman, Okla., to tutor the offensive line. Now, for the second time in his Giant career, the veteran football man is once again the club's chief talent hunter in the southwest. Ivy has a broad background in pro football. He was head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos in Canada (1954-57), head coach of the Chicago Cardinals in the NFL (1958-61) and then head coach of the Houston Oilers of the AFL (1962-63). An All-American college player at the U. of Oklahoma, Pop saw NFL service as an end with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals.

KEN KAVANAUGH

KEN KAVANAUGH—Scout—Ken Kavanaugh, one of the most famous names in National Football League history, joined the Giants' scouting staff in 1971 and brought with him a wealth of experience as both a professional player and coach. Actually, Kavanaugh moved into the Giants' scouting department from the coaching staff, where he had been offensive end coach from 1955-68 and offensive coach from 1969-70, a total of 16 years under three head coaches, Jim Lee Howell, Allie Sherman and Alex Webster. Prior to becoming a Giant aide, the Pro Hall of Fame end had spent one season (1951) as end coach for his old club, the Chicago Bears, and one season (1954) at Villanova College in his hometown of Philadelphia. As a player, Ken was one of the Bear greats. He starred at end in 1940-41, left for an Air Force tour of duty and returned to make All Pro again in 1946-47. At LSU, Kavanaugh was a four-year regular (1936-40), twice earning All American honors.

TOM MARINO

TOM MARINO—Scout—Marino joined the Giants as a scout in the Spring of 1978 after previous affiliations with other professional football organizations. He began his career in scouting and player evaluation in 1972 at the age of 24 with the Chicago Bears and remained with the Bears until 1974 when he was named Assistant Director of Scouting for the New York Stars in the now-defunct WFL. His next stop was with the Philadelphia Bell in the WFL as Director of Player Personnel, and when the WFL folded, Tom returned to the NFL as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys in 1977. He was subsequently a teacher in the Somerville, Mass. school system until joining the Giants in 1978. Thomas Joseph Marino was born on January 3, 1948 in Boston, Mass., and played his high school sports at Somerville H.S. in Somerville, Mass. He later was a defensive back at East Texas State and then at Boston State, earning varsity letters at both colleges, and earning a B.S. degree in History at Boston State in 1972. After graduation, he began his career with the Chicago Bears that same year. Tom and his wife, Denise, live in Woburn, Mass.

ED RUTLEDGE

CHRIS MARA

ED RUTLEDGE—Scout—Background includes longtime service as both a coach and scout. Joined the Giants in 1974 as an assistant coach after spending previous five years as a member of the NFL's CEPO scouting organization. Prior to that period, Rutledge had been associated with Don Shula, initially as a member of the coaching staff at the University of Kentucky, and from 1966-1969 as linebackers coach under Shula with the Baltimore Colts. Born on May 14, 1918 in Ironton, Ohio, Rutledge lettered in football at Western Kentucky University as a two-way end, then spent six years as a Navy Pilot 1941-47, reaching rank of Lieut. Commander. He was a special agent with the FBI through 1948 when he decided to enter the coaching ranks, and began that career at Danville H.S. in Kentucky. Married to the former Pearl Black, the Rutledges have a son, Richard, and a daughter, Rebecca.

CHRIS MARA—Scout—The newest member of the scouting department, Chris joined the staff prior to the 1979 season and was active in collegiate scouting throughout all of last season and was also part of the Giants' drafting group this past April. Born on March 11, 1957 in New York City, Chris graduated from Iona Prep in New Rochelle, N.Y. where he was a standout defensive back for three seasons, winning All-Catholic High School Athletic Association recognition after his senior season. He began his collegiate career at Springfield University, where he was a defensive back on the freshman team, then transferred to Boston College, where he earned a B.A. degree in Arts and Sciences with a major in Sociology. During his scholastic and collegiate days, Chris spent many seasons working at various Giants' pre-season training camps, and during the regular season worked with broadcast teams from both CBS-TV and NBC-TV, as well as with visiting and home radio broadcast groups.

JULIUS HORAI

VINNIE SWERC

JULIUS HORAI—Administrative Assistant—A key man in the Giants' training facility operation at Pace University in Westchester County, N.Y. is Julius "Whitey" Horai who has been associated with the club since 1954. Whitey handles a myriad of details at the training complex, including maintenance of fields, buildings, grounds and equipment as well as serving as the coordinator of transportation and film exchanges. He's also a familiar figure on the sidelines during games. A native of Richmond, Staten Island, Whitey graduated from Curtis High School there, then went on to Wagner College where he worked for the athletic department as equipment and field maintenance man under Jim Lee Howell. When Jim Lee came to the Giants as head coach in 1954, Horai came too in a part-time capacity, then joined the club fulltime in 1970. A bachelor, Whitey still resides in Staten Island.

VINNIE SWERC—Administrative Assistant—A retired sales and purchasing executive, Vinnie Swerc has been affiliated with the Giants since the 1933 season... giving him more than four decades of being around the club. During that period, Swerc has assisted in many ways, initially working in the clubhouse on game days and assisting on the field and now as a fulltime administrative assistant where he assists in such areas as preparation of contracts, purchasing orders, as well as continuation of his gameday work during the season in the clubhouse and on the field. Vinnie is a native of Elm Park, Staten Island, graduated from Port Richmond High School there and played on championship basketball teams in the Staten Island area for several years thereafter. His arrival with the Giants in 1933 coincided with that of Ken Strong, the N.Y.U. All-American. Swerc served for many years as the head of sales and purchasing agent for the George H. McFaddon Cotton Merchants in New York until his retirement in 1972. Married to the former Alice Wisniewski for 32 years, Vinnie lives in Port Richmond and his favorite pastime, other than the Giants, is travel, particularly in the Caribbean area.

JOHN DZIEGIEL

RONNIE BARNES

JOHN DZIEGIEL—Trainer Emeritus—John Dziegiel, one of the best known and most widely respected trainers in the sports field, has a career that dates back over 50 years to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. John started in 1928 by assisting the regular West Point trainers with rubdowns; in 1930, he became a fulltime assistant trainer and stayed at The Point until 1944. From 1946 through 1967, Dziegiel was head trainer at Fordham University, dividing his time between Rose Hill and Yankee Stadium, where he was co-trainer, along with John Johnson, for the Football Giants, a post he acquired in 1956. An acknowledged authority on sports injuries and treatment, John helped found the National Association of Athletic Trainers and is also active in the Eastern Athletic Trainers' Association. Dziegiel now devotes his full time and energies to a year-round physical training and conditioning program for the Giants. Players living in the New York metropolitan area work regularly with John in the off-season. He was named Trainer Emeritus earlier this year.

RONNIE BARNES—Head Trainer—The new head trainer, the 29-year-old Barnes has a highly impressive background. A graduate of East Carolina University and with a Master's degree from Michigan State University, Ronnie had worked during the Summer months in previous Giants' pre-season training camps, and then joined the club on a fulltime basis. After his graduation from East Carolina, he remained at his alma mater to serve as an assistant trainer and instructor, then became a trainer and assistant professor of health at Michigan State in 1977. An active lecturer in sports medicine throughout the country, Barnes is currently working towards his Ph.D at Michigan State. Ronnie was born on February 15, 1952 in Rocky Mount, N.C., and graduated from Fike Senior H.S. in Wilson, N.C. He was an honor student at East Carolina, vice-president of the senior class and a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa. He's a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association and the American College of Sports Medicine, and served as a trainer at the Blue-Gray Classic in 1974. He additionally made a State Department tour of Brazil.

JOHN JOHNSON

JOHN JOHNSON—Trainer—John Johnson, a graduate of the Swedish Institute of Physical Therapy, has been a trainer for the Giants for the past 34 years and, during this period, also has served as head trainer and physical instructor at Manhattan College. After serving an internship period at Brooklyn Jewish and Long Island College Hospitals (1937-38), Johnson worked as a physical trainer for the Bedford YMCA and then, from 1942-46, was in charge of physical therapy and rehabilitation at a U.S. Air Force base hospital. His service hitch included duty as a physical therapy instructor, athletic trainer for post teams and as an air-sea rescue medic. From 1946-47, John was a civilian athletic trainer at the U.S. Naval Preflight School at Ottumwa, Ia. A member of the Eastern and National Athletic Trainers' Associations as well as the National Physical Therapy Association, Johnson also has served as a trainer for visiting teams at Madison Square Garden (1954-63). He lives in Cresskill, N.J., with his wife and two daughters.

DAVE BARRINGER

DAVE BARRINGER—Trainer—Joined the Giants in the Spring of 1981 from the Baltimore Colts where he had served as an assistant trainer. A native of Farmington, Mich., Dave is a graduate of Michigan State University where he also served for five years as a student trainer. Barringer's association with the Colts began in 1977 when he served as an assistant to the Colts' trainer emeritus, Ed Block, during the pre-season training camp period. He rejoined Baltimore in the Summer of 1979 on a fulltime basis, starting with that training camp and continuing through the regular season at all home and away games.

DR. ALLAN LEVY

DR. KIM SLOAN

DR. ALLAN LEVY—Team Physician—Dr. Levy joined the Giants prior to the 1976 season and brings impressive credentials with him to the job. In private practice for 26 years in Westwood, N.J., Al has been involved in sports medicine for 22 of those years, initially as the team physician for Westwood High School. He moved into professional baseball as team physician for the Newark Bears, and then into football with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the old Continental Football League. He continued in football as team physician for the Westchester Bulls, a Giant affiliate in the late 1960s, and was the first team doctor for the New Jersey Nets when they began play originally as the New Jersey Americans. Dr. Levy has continued as team physician for the Nets since their inception, and has also worked as the team doctor for the New York Islanders hockey team of the NHL. Born on May 28, 1927 in Saranac Lake, N.Y., Dr. Levy received his B.A. from Columbia University in 1947 and his M.D. from Cornell University in 1951. He and his wife Gail have three children, Debbie, Lisa and Paul—and still reside in Westwood.

DR. KIM SLOAN—Orthopedic Surgeon—One of the youngest and most distinguished orthopedic surgeons in the country, 31-year-old Kim Sloan became the Giants' orthopedic specialist in May of 1980, replacing the late Dr. John Marshall. Currently in the private practice of orthopedic and arthroscopic surgery in New Jersey, Dr. Sloan is a graduate of Boston University and the Boston University Medical School and did his residency at the Hospital for Joint Diseases. He was subsequently Chief of Sports Medicine at the Hospital for Joint Diseases and is also an attending surgeon at Pascack Valley Hospital in New Jersey. A Fellow of the International Arthroscopic Association and a Diplomate of the American Board of Orthopedic Surgeons, Dr. Sloan also serves as the Orthopedic Surgeon for the New Jersey Nets basketball team and is additionally the orthopedic consultant for Fairleigh-Dickinson University, Ramapo College, Wayne State and William Paterson College. PRO: Blount (pronounced "Blunt") enjoyed an outstanding pre-season at the start of his rookie campaign last year, registering 13 solo tackles against the Pittsburgh Steelers in the pre-season opener, then suffered severe knee injuries in the fourth regular season game, underwent surgery, and was lost for the remainder of the year. He worked hard during the off-season to rehabilitate the knee, and should be ready to make a strong bid for the starting strong safety position, now that incumbent Beasley Reece has been moved to free safety. Tony is an exceptional hitter and a solid competitor and could prove to be a big addition to the secondary. GAMES PLAYED: 3, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Tony won four varsity letters at Virginia where he played both safety and linebacker. He won first team All-ACC honors twice and was an honorable mention All-American in his senior season when he had 73 tackles, caused five fumbles, recovered four and had three interceptions. Voted team MVP in his senior year, Blount earned a BBA degree in Marketing and was a Dean's list student after being a National Honor Society student while in high school.

PERSONAL: Anthony Urban Blount was born in Atlanta, Ga., on November 5, 1958 and was an all-around athlete-student at Frederick Douglas H.S. in Atlanta where he was named to Who's Who in American High Schools.

12 SCOTT BRUNNER
Quarterback Delaware 3/24/57
6-5 200 D-6 '80 2nd Year

PRO: Brunner (pronounced Brune-er) had himself an impressive rookie season with the Giants. Despite a background of just one starting season in college in a Division II category, Scott showed considerable poise and ability in his six appearances at QB, and in his first NFL start late in the year after Phil Simms had been injured and was out for the final three games, Brunner fired a pair of TD passes to engineer a 27-21 victory over Seattle. He also performed admirably against the eventual Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders in the season finale, throwing 17-of-32 for 150 yards and one TD. All told, Brunner finished the year with 52 completions in 112 attempts for 610 yards and four TDs, and also appeared in all 16 games as the holder on conversion and field goal attempts. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: While Scott earned three letters at Delaware, his one big year was his senior season when he won Kodak All-American honors in Division II. After being the backup QB to Jeff Komlo for those two earlier years, Scott led Delaware to a 13-1 record in his final year, completing 134 of 268 passes for 2,401 yards and 24 TD passes. Those 24 TD throws set an alltime Delaware one-season record, as did his five TD throws in one game.

PERSONAL: Scott Lee Brunner was born on March 24, 1957 in Sellersville, Pa., and played his scholastic sports at both Henderson H.S. in West Chester, Pa., and at Lawrenceville H.S. in New Jersey. He played both Little League baseball and participated in Punt, Pass & Kick in football as a youngster. An Accounting major in college, Scott was married during this past off-season. His father, John Brunner, is the offensive backfield coach with the Detroit Lions.

53 HARRY CARSON
Linebacker So. Carolina St. 11/26/53
6-3 245 D-4 '76 6th Year

PRO: All-Pro MLB suffered through multiple injuries in 1980, missing half of the season—first with a knee injury that required arthroscopic surgery, and then with a back injury that sidelined him for the final four games of the year. Despite missing eight games, he was fifth in tackles for the year with 84 (55 solo, 29 assists), including 13 vs. San Francisco and 12 in three other games. He had his best season ever in 1979, leading the club in tackles for the third straight year with 185, and winning Pro Bowl recognition for the second straight year. Additionally, he was named the top MLB in the NFL by Sports Illustrated and as the NFC Linebacker of the Year by the Players Association. Other honors included First Team All-NFC by UPI, Pro Football Weekly and the Sporting News. Had three more interceptions in '79, also added three fumble recoveries, one of which he returned 22 yards for his first NFL touchdown, and that return beat Kansas City 21-17 in the final two minutes of play. Also had a career high 18 tackles against the Cowboys at Dallas in December. Elected defensive captain of club by teammates prior to the '79 season, replacing the departed Jack Gregory in that capacity. A defensive end in college, Harry was moved to MLB as a rookie by the Giants, took over as a starter halfway through that 1976 season and ended up making the All-NFL Rookie team. Has been a starter and leader ever since and in 1977 was named the club MVP by NEA. GAMES PLAYED: 8, STARTED: 7.

COLLEGE: Carson never missed a game in four seasons at South Carolina State, was team captain for two years, senior class president, and won Kodak All-American honors as well as Little All-American by AP. Twice MVP of the Mid-East Conference, he had 114 solo tackles, 41 assists and 30 QB sacks in his senior year. Additionally, he was an ROTC Commander in college and won the Eastern Airlines Award for highest academic average among Black College All-Americans.

PERSONAL: Harry Donald Carson was born on November 26, 1953 in Florence, S.C. and starred at McClenaghan H.S. in all sports, as well as serving as senior class president. Harry has five brothers and sisters, and a brother, Edgar, is a minister. Harry lists music, fishing and target shooting as his principal interests, and he's also a devotee of daytime soap operas on television. In 1979, he appeared on the ABC-TV soap, "One Life To Live."

56 JIM CLACK
Center Wake Forest 10/26/47
6-3 250 T '78 11th Year

PRO: Veteran offensive team leader suffered a knee injury in training camp last year, missed the entire pre-season, then returned to start all 16 regular season games, giving him 48 straight starting appearances over past three years. Clack came to the Giants along with wide receiver Ernie Pough in a 1978 trade with the Pittsburgh Steelers for John Hicks. Clack immediately won the starting job at center for the Giants, played in all 16 games and was a big reason for the improvement of the offensive line in 1978. A solid technician and leader, Jim was named to the UPI second-team All-NFC at season's end and also was named NEA's Most Valuable Giant player for 1978. In 1979, Clack continued his solid overall play and leadership. He was elected offensive captain by his teammates prior to the season, and was again voted to the second-team All-NFC by UPI, missing the first-team designation by just two votes. Originally signed as a free agent by Pittsburgh, Clack had been named the Best Blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference in his senior year after winning letters in his first two seasons as both a linebacker and defensive tackle. With the Steelers, Clack was a center until the 1974 season, then switched to guard where he was a starter in both of the Steelers' Super Bowl triumphs. He was a starter at guard for all 14 regular season games and in the AFC playoffs against Denver in 1977. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: In addition to his award as top blocker in the ACC in his senior year at Wake Forest, Clack was a standout basketball and track performer at Wake Forest in his freshman year, winning numerals in both of those sports before devoting his full efforts towards football. Received B.A. degree in history.

PERSONAL: James Thomas Clack was born on October 26, 1947 in Rocky Mount, N.C., and won letters in football, basketball and track at Rocky Mount H.S. where he was an honor student. He still resides in Rocky Mount during the off-seasons.

18 JOE DANELO
Kicker Washington State 9/2/53
5-9 166 T '76 7th Year

PRO: Danalo had a powerful finish in 1980, kicking 13 of his final 15 FG attempts for a final 16-of-24 mark, moving him to a 58.1%, second best in club history. His FGs were instrumental in all four Giant wins in '80, with the biggest a 27-yarder in the final minute to beat Dallas 38-35. Joe came to the Giants from the Green Bay Packers in exchange for a 7th round draft choice just prior to the 1976 season. Hampered by a groin injury his first season, he had but 8-for-21 in FG attempts, but since then has rapidly progressed to become one of the top placekickers in the NFL. He had his best season in 1978 when he was 21-of-29, including a pair of 50-yarders. Danelo holds the alltime club record for having kicked field goals in 18 consecutive games, and he's the only kicker in club history to kick more than one 50 or longer FGs, with his current total being six. A good athlete, Joe is a sure tackler who has made his share of stops on kickoff returns, and in 1979, he had his first NFL pass reception on a fake field goal attempt. Originally a No. 10 draft choice of Miami, Joe was released by the Dolphins, then signed by the Packers where he was the regular kicker that season when Chester Marcol was injured, hitting 11-of-16 FGs. GAMES PLAYED: 16

COLLEGE: Joe was a three-year letterman as the kicker for Washington State, leading the club in scoring in all three seasons and setting alltime college records for field goals. He was selected for the All-America Bowl game in Tampa after his senior year, and also won two varsity letters in soccer.

PERSONAL: Joseph Peter Danelo was born on September 2, 1953 at Fairchild Air Force base in Spokane, Wash., and was a soccer and football ace at Gonzaga Prep in Spokane. He's married to the former Emily Martinez of Hollywood, Calif., is an expert cabinet-maker during the off-seasons and plays the concertina for his principal hobby.

MIKE DENNIS

Cornerback

Wyoming

6/6/58

PRO: One of the big discoveries in last year's training camp, Mike had been signed as a FA after being overlooked in the draft and promptly proved to be a highly capable defensive back. He came up with interceptions against the Steelers and Broncos in the pre-season, then won himself a starting job at the corner. Despite missing the final three games of the regular season with a knee injury, Dennis led the club in interceptions with five for 68 yards returned and also had 73 tackles on 46 solos and 27 assists. He had interceptions in three consecutive games against the Eagles, Rams and Cowboys early in the season, and another interception against Dallas late in the season set up a key touchdown in the Giants' 38-35 upset victory. Strong, quick and a good hitter, Mike could also get a try at strong safety as the need arises. GAMES PLAYED: 13, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Dennis began his career at Pasadena City College as a teammate of WR Danny Pittman, then moved on to Wyoming with Pittman for his final two seasons of competition. He won two varsity letters at Wyoming and in his senior season, playing free safety, was named to the All-WAC first-team and to the All-American honorable mention list.

PERSONAL: Michael D. Dennis was born in Los Angeles on June 6, 1958, and played his scholastic sports at Pasadena H.S. He comes from a family of eight children, and a stepbrother, Charles Phillips, is a safety with the Oakland Raiders.

48 JEROME DOVE
Cornerback Colorado State 10/3/53
6-2 195 FA '81 5th Year

PRO: Giants acquired the veteran DB in May of this year after he had been waived by the San Diego Chargers. Originally an 8th round draft choice of the Oakland Raiders in 1976, Dove was released by Oakland that year and signed as a FA by the Chargers in 1977. In four seasons with San Diego, Dove missed only two games, and was a starter at CB 13 times over that span. He had two career interceptions for 36 yards returned, and had seven fumble recoveries in past three years. Also a top special teams' player, he led Chargers in tackles on kick coverages for past two seasons. In one start last year, vs. Philadelphia, he held Harold Carmichael to one catch for 11 yards in 22-21 San Diego victory. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 2.

COLLEGE: Dove began his collegiate career at Hutchinson Junior College in Kansas, then finished at Colorado State where he was a starter for both seasons and won All-Conference honors.

PERSONAL: Jerome Dove was born in Newport News, Va., on October 3, 1953 and played his high school sports at both Huntington H.S. and Menchville H.S. in Virginia as a wide receiver and defensive back. He and his wife, Nancy, have a daughter, Janie, 4, and the family resides in San Diego during the off-seasons.

63*Tackle*6-3*260*TERRY FALCON*Montana*FA '80*8/30/55*4th Year

PRO: Saw action at both guard and tackle in 1980, and on special teams' units. Started twice at LT, and was also used as a reserve at the guard slots. Giants acquired Falcon as a free agent in early 1980 after Terry had become a free agent by playing out his option with the Patriots. Falcon had originally been picked on the 8th round by the Patriots in the 1978 draft, then was released on the Pats' final cut of that season. He was subsequently re-signed by New England during the season and played in eight games, mostly on special teams. Falcon saw extensive action as both a guard and a tackle, appearing in each of the first 10 games in '79 until a knee injury vs. Buffalo put him out of action for the remainder of the year. GAMES PLAYED: 13, STARTED: 2.

COLLEGE: Terry began his collegiate career as a tight end and defensive tackle at Minot State before transferring to Montana where he was a starting guard for his final two seasons. He was named to the All-Big Sky Conference first team in both of those years at Montana and was the 1977 Weskamp Award winner as the outstanding offensive lineman.

PERSONAL: Theodore Lee Falcon was born in Culberston, Mont., on August 30, 1955 and played his high school sports at Culberston H.S.

22*Defensive Back*6-0*200*ERIC FELTON*Texas Tech*FA '80*10/8/55*4th Year

PRO: Veteran DB was signed by the Giants late in 1980 after injuries had reduced the secondary, and appeared in six games—four of those as a starter at cornerback. In those final four games of the year as a starter, he had 16 tackles (14 solo, 2 assists) and had four pass deflections. Originally a 5th round draft choice of the New Orleans Saints, Felton was a starter for 10 games in 1979 and had four interceptions for 53 yards returned, including a 53-yard return in a Monday Night game vs. Oakland. Also blocked a FG attempt to set up a 14-10 win over Redskins that year. Had five interceptions during his two years with Saints. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Eric won four letters at Texas Tech as a DB, and was a starter there for three seasons, winning All-Southwest Conference honors in 1977. A Recreation Administration major, he played in the Bluebonnet, Fiesta and Blue-Gray Bowl games.

PERSONAL: Eric Norman Felton was born in Austin, Tex., on October 8, 1955, and grew up in Lubbock, Tex., where he was a fine all-around athlete at Lubbock H.S. Works as a coach and recreation supervisor in the off-seasons.

88	MIKE FRIEDE
Wide Receiver	Indiana 9/22/57
6-3 205 FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: One of the biggest additions in recent years, Friede was signed as a FA by the Giants in October, 1980, after he had been waived by the Detroit Lions where he had been that club's No. 3 draft choice. After brief appearances in three games, Friede got his first start at WR against Dallas and turned in a dazzling show with seven catches for 137 yards, including several acrobatic grabs, one of which set up the game winning FG in a 38-35 Giants' upset win. A week later, Mike had six catches for 108 yards in the win over Green Bay, and continued his awesome work until he suffered a severely injured knee vs. St. Louis, underwent extensive surgery and was out for the rest of the year. During his brief 1980 stint, Mike had 21 catches for 350 yards and a 16.7 average. After participating in the off-season work program and now fully recuperated from that knee surgery, Friede is expected to be a contender for a starting job in 1981. GAMES PLAYED: 7, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Friede won four varsity letters in college, two each at Garden City Junior College and at Indiana University. At Indiana, he was a second-team All-Big 10 selection and honorable mention All-American, and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine game and Japan Bowl after his senior year. At Garden City J.C., he set an all-record with 11 catches for 239 yards and five TDs in one game, and also had 7 catches for 119 yards and a TD for Indiana against Purdue. Averaged 24.2 per catch as a junior at Indiana. Earned basketball letters in junior college and was a high school track star in the 220 and 440-yard dashes.

PERSONAL: Michael Gordon Friede (pronounced Free-Dee) was born in Haure, Montana on September 22, 1957, and played his scholastic sports at Goodland H.S. in Goodland, Kansas. Mike was married last December to Susan Kay Trinkle and now resides in Wayne, N.J. during the off-seasons.

25*ALVIN GARRETT*Wide Receiver*Angelo State*10/1/56*5-7*178*FA '80*2nd Year

PRO: A 9th round draft choice of the San Diego Chargers in 1979, Garrett was released by the Chargers late that pre-season, and signed as a FA by the Giants in March, 1980. He was used primarily as a return specialist last season, although he did see some service as a reserve RB as well, rushing 9 times for 31 yards and catching 5 passes for 69 yards, including a 32-yard TD catch vs. the Redskins in September. As a return man, Alvin had 35 PR for 287 yards and an 8.2 average, and 28 KOR for 527 yards and an 18.8 average. His longest punt return was a 66-yarder vs. St. Louis that set up a TD, and his longest KOR was for 41 yards vs. Denver. Garrett also tied an alltime club record with seven kickoff returns in one game—vs. San Diego. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Garrett won two varsity letters at Angelo State in Texas as a RB, leading his club to a 14-0 record in 1978 to win the NAIA championship and winning MVP honors for that team, as well as All-Lone Star Conference honors. His two-year totals included 473 yards rushing for a 4.7 average, 50 receptions for 839 yards and six TDs, as well as 16 KOR for a 19.0 average and 11 PR for a 5.4 average.

PERSONAL: Alvin Lynn Garrett was born in Mineral Wells, Tex., on October 1, 1956 and was an all-around sports standout at Mineral Wells H.S.

83*EARNEST GRAY*Wide Receiver*Memphis State*3/2/57*6-3*195*D-2 '79*3rd Year

PRO: Earnest had an outstanding year in 1980, leading the club in receptions and touchdowns scored, and set an alltime Giant record with four TD catches in the season-opening 41-35 win over St. Louis. He also had three TD catches in win over Green Bay, and during season had three more TD receptions nullified by penalties. His 55 catches were the most by a Giant WR since Del Shofner caught 64 in 1963. The Giants' No. 2 pick in 1979, Earnest proved his credentials quickly, not only earning a starting job at WR, but winning All-NFL Rookie honors from UPI, Pro Football Weekly, the Professional Football Writers Association and Football Digest by season's end. Gray concluded his Rookie campaign with 28 receptions for 537 yards, a 19.2 average-per-catch mark and four touchdowns. His most impressive output came in a 32-16 romp over the 49ers when he caught eight passes for 169 yards and a pair of touchdowns. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Earnest had an outstanding career at Memphis State, winning All-American honors as he had career totals of 97 receptions for 2,123 yards, 17 touchdowns and a 21.9 average-per-catch mark. Named to both the Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine games, he broke a 27-year-old NCAA record in his junior year when he averaged 29.5 per catch. He also holds the Memphis State alltime record for longest TD reception, 94 yards.

PERSONAL: Earnest Gray was born in Greenwood, Miss. on March 2, 1957 where he excelled in football, basketball and track at Greenwood H.S., winning the State championships in the hurdles in his senior year. Gray still resides in Greenwood during the off-season with his wife and three-year-old daughter.

36 MARK HAYNES

Cornerback Colorado 11/6/58
5-11 185 D-1 '80 2nd Year

PRO: The Giants' No. 1 draft choice last year, Mark lost valuable time in the pre-season training camp due to nagging injuries, then during the start of the regular season had some problems adjusting to the right cornerback position, even though he won the starting job there and had a key interception in the season-opening 41-35 victory over St. Louis. When Terry Jackson was injured, Mark moved to the left corner and showed constant improvement at that spot throughout the remainder of the season—so much so, that he'll remain at the LCB spot with Jackson moving to the right side in 1981. All told, Haynes finished the season with 57 tackles (47 solo, 10 assists) and had one interception. He also had two KOR for 40 yards, and had an interception and 35-yard return for a TD vs. Dallas nullified by a penalty. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 12.

COLLEGE: Mark was a unanimous All-American choice at Colorado in his senior season, and was an All-Big 8 selection twice. He won four varsity letters as both a cornerback and safety, concluding his career with 256 tackles, eight fumble recoveries, five interceptions and three blocked kicks. He had a 97-yard interception for a TD vs. Army in 1977 and had 18 tackles in one game vs. Iowa State that same season. Co-captain in his senior year, he was selected to play in both the Hula and Senior Bowl games.

PERSONAL: Mark Haynes was born in Kansas City, Mo., on November 6, 1958 and was a legendary scholastic star at Harmon H.S. there where he earned seven letters in football, basketball and track and set a school record as a running back with 1,380 yards rushing and 19 TDs in one season.

LARRY HEATER

Arizona

FA '80

1/9/58

2nd Year

PRO: Larry was a 6th round pick of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1980, was released late in training camp and signed by the Giants just prior to the start of the regular season. By season's end, he had appeared in 14 games, four as a starter, and responded with 360 yards rushing and three touchdowns on 111 carries—the second leading total on the club—added 10 receptions for 139 yards and five KOR for another 103 yards and a 20.6 average. Heater was the leading rusher for the Giants four times during the season, vs. Washington, Los Angeles, Dallas and Green Bay, with his best day coming against the Packers when he had 75 yards. He scored a TD in the 38-35 win over Dallas and also made a diving catch for a 43-yard gain to set up another score. GAMES PLAYED: 14, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Heater began his collegiate career at Dixie Junior College in Utah, then finished at Arizona where he earned two varsity letters as a halfback, winning PAC-10 Player of the Week honors in his senior year. He was also selected to play in the Japan Bowl after also playing in the Fiesta Bowl his senior season.

PERSONAL: Larry Heater was born in Cincinnati on January 9, 1958, then played his scholastic sports at Rancho H.S. in Las Vegas, Nev., where he excelled in both football and baseball. Larry is married to the former Missoura Turner and has a daughter, Cicely.

Safety

6-0 190

BUD HEBERT

Oklahoma

D-7a '80

10/12/56

PRO: A 7th round choice of the Giants last year, Bud enjoyed a highly productive pre-season and won himself the starting free safety job at the start of the regular season. In that season opener, a 41-35 upset win over St. Louis, Hebert came up with five solo tackles in a strong performance, then made the game-winning interception against Jim Hart in the final minute of play to insure the victory. Thereafter, the former Oklahoma star was in and out of the lineup with recurring back problems, and eventually finished the season on the Injured Reserve. All told, he started six games during the year, had 27 tackles (15 solo, 12 assists) and one fumble recovery to go along with his interception.

GAMES PLAYED: 10, STARTED: 6.

COLLEGE: Hebert won four varsity letters at Oklahoma, despite undergoing knee surgery one season and a shoulder separation in another. He capped his career in the Orange Bowl during his senior season against Florida State by making three interceptions in that game to win MVP honors for the game. On the Dean's list for three years, he also won three varsity letters in baseball at Oklahoma and holds the school record with three homers in one game. He earned a BBA degree and has been accepted to Law School in Oklahoma.

PERSONAL: Daryl Bud Hebert was born in Beaumont, Tex., on October 12, 1956, and was a three-sport standout at South Park H.S. in Beaumont. A bachelor, he's a fine golfer, tennis player and water skier.

47 STEVE HENRY
Safety Emporia State 3/5/57
6-2 190 FA '80 3rd Year

PRO: Henry was the 5th round draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1979 and appeared in eight games that season with the Big Red. He was released by St. Louis last season and signed by the Giants late in the campaign. He appeared in five games with the Giants as a reserve safety and came up with an interception vs. the 49ers in San Francisco.

Blessed with fine speed, Steve will get a try at strong safety this coming training camp.
GAMES PLAYED: 5, STARTED: 1.

COLLEGE: Steve won four varsity letters at Emporia State as a defensive back, and was his school's Player of the Year in 1978 when he also won honorable mention NAIA All-American honors. He was an All-Conference choice for three years and NAIA All-District choice for two seasons. Henry also won four varsity letters in track.

PERSONAL: Steve A. Henry was born in Kansas City, Kan., on March 5, 1957 and was an all-around scholastic star at Nemaha Valley H.S. in Senesca, Kan. Married to the former Rebecca Uhrich, Steve has a son, Lucas James, born last November.

24 TERRY JACKSON
Cornerback San Diego State 12/9/55
5-10 197 D-5 '78 4th Year

PRO: After being an ironman for his first two years with the club, Terry suffered a dislocated shoulder in '80 and missed half the season. A starter since his rookie year, he had a key interception in the season-opening win over the Cardinals and had 25 tackles and two fumble recoveries as well before going down with the shoulder injury. Terry had one of the most auspicious debuts in club history when he had an interception and ran it back 32 yards for a TD on his first play as a Giant in the 1978 season opener at Tampa Bay. He went on to finish with seven interceptions to lead the club—the most by a Giant in 10 years—and was named to the All-NFL Rookie team by Football Digest. In 1979, Terry shared the club lead in interceptions with three and in the balloting for the Pro Bowl finished as the runnerup and alternate at cornerback for the NFC squad. Scored his second TD in as many years when he grabbed a blocked punt and raced 47 yards for a score in the 24-3 win over Atlanta. GAMES PLAYED: 8, STARTED: 7.

COLLEGE: Jackson was a three-year starter as a safety at San Diego State, earning All-West Coast honors in his senior year when he had six interceptions. His three-year interception total was 11, and after his final year, he was selected to play in the East-West Shrine game.

PERSONAL: Terence Leon Jackson was born in Sherman, Tex., on December 9, 1955 and grew up in California where he won varsity letters in three sports at St. Augustine's H.S. in San Diego. Terry now resides in Edgewater, N.J. during the off-season. His older brother, Monte Jackson, is a former All-NFL cornerback, and now plays with Oakland.

DAVE JENNINGS

St. Lawrence

FA '74

6/8/52

8th Year

PRO: The NFL's leading punter with a 44.8 average in 1980, Dave also set alltime club records in lifetime punts, 611, and yardage, 25,514 in surpassing Don Chandler. Jennings has to rank as one of the greatest free agent pickups in club history. Signed by the Giants as a free agent after he had been cut by the Houston Oilers in 1974, the effervescent booter from St. Lawrence has come on to set just about every alltime club punting record, and the ones he doesn't own yet should be his also very soon. Since winning the job as a rookie, Jennings has won numerous honors including the All-NFL Rookie team in 1974; second-team All-NFC in 1976; first-team All-NFC and second-team All-NFL in 1978; and first-team All-NFL (AP) and unanimous first-team All-

NFC in 1979 and 1980. He has also been named the NFC's punter in the last three Pro Bowls. His 104 punts and 4,445 yards in 1979 are both alltime club one-season records, and he is also second and third in both of those categories. He also had a 72-yard punt vs. Dallas in 1979, which is the second longest in club history, and his 54.0 average vs. Dallas is also the second best in club history. In seven years, Jennings hasn't missed a game, and he's also had other stats in addition to his punting. He was 2-for-2 in passing in 1979 for 48 yards and is now 3-for-3 lifetime. He's also rushed three times for 11 yards and caught one pass. Perhaps one of the best all-around athletes on the club, Jennings won the NFL Superstars competition in January, 1979 in Freeport, defeating the likes of Tony Dorsett, Greg Pruitt and Lynn Swann...and he's also been the top scorer and rebounder on the off-season basketball squad. GAMES PLAYED: 16.

COLLEGE: Jennings won two varsity letters in basketball at St. Lawrence, and also won the school's punting job as a walk-on, proceeding to win All-Conference honors three times thereafter, while earning a BA degree in Economics.

PERSONAL: David Tuthill Jennings was born in New York City on June 8, 1952 and played his sports at Garden City H.S., L.I. A third-cousin of Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk, Jennings is a big Red Sox and Boston Celtics' fan. He's also an up and coming sportscaster, having done a daily radio show on WNBC in New Haven and with WNAB in Bridgeport, as well as guest spots on WNEW in New York, and on college basketball on television. A bachelor, he resides in Upper Saddle River, N.J. His father, Manson, is a former president of Southern Connecticut State College.

70*GARY JETER*Defensive End Southern Cal. 3/24/55*6-4 260 D- '77 5th Year

PRO: Jeter had his best season yet in 1980, starting and playing all 16 games and leading the club in virtually all of the defensive statistics. He concluded the year with 110 tackles (70-40, solo-assists) to finish first in that category; registered 10 QB sacks for 89 yards to lead in that department as well and had three opponent fumble recoveries to share the lead there. That marked the second straight season of impressive totals for the club's No. 1 draft pick in 1977, following 90 tackles, four QB sacks and two blocked kicks in 1979—his first year as a starter. During his first two seasons with the club, Gary filled in admirably at both DE and DT as a reserve. In his rookie year, he stepped in at LE when George Martin was injured and produced 43 tackles and three sacks in four starts, and in '78, when the late Troy Archer was hurt, started eight games at DT and had 53 tackles and three sacks. He enjoyed particular success against the St. Louis Cardinals last season, getting three sacks in the opening day victory over the Birds, and 12 tackles in the rematch at Giants Stadium. Now firmly entrenched as the starting defensive RE in the Giants' 3-4 alignment, he should be ready to make a firm bid for post-season honors. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Jeter won four varsity letters in football at USC and was a starter at defensive tackle since the middle of his freshman year. He was twice named to the All-American team by both wire services and the Football Writers and was an All-PAC 8 selection three times. All told, he had 235 solo tackles and 31 QB sacks during his career, and in addition to Rose Bowl appearances, was named to both the Hula Bowl and Japan Bowl games after his senior year.

PERSONAL: Gary Michael Jeter was born in Weirton, West Va., on January 24, 1955 and grew up in Cleveland where he was one of the finest all-around athletes ever at Cathedral Latin High School. A bachelor, Jeter lists Business Management or Law School in his future. Two of his uncles, Tony and Bob Jeter, are former NFL players.

89*DENNIS JOHNSON*Tight End Mississippi State 2/26/56*6-3 220 FA '80 4th Year

PRO: Johnson was signed as a FA by the Giants in November, 1980 and was on the roster for the final four games of the season, appearing in three as a member of the special teams. Dennis was a 3rd round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 1978 and spent two seasons as a reserve running back with the Bills. In his rookie year, he carried 55 times for 222 yards and a 4.0 average, caught 10 passes for 83 yards and scored two touchdowns.

He also had 10 kickoff returns for 204 yards and a 20.4 average that rookie season.

GAMES PLAYED: 3, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE Dennis earned four varsity letters at Mississippi State as a fullback, and was named UPI's Offensive Player of the Week on two occasions in his senior season. Johnson set a Mississippi State one-game record that season when he rushed for 198 yards on 24 carries. He also was selected to play in both the East-West Shrine and Hula Bowl games after his senior season.

PERSONAL: Dennis D. Johnson was born in Weir, Miss., on February 26, 1956 and played his high school sports at Weir H.S. in his hometown. A bachelor, Dennis still lives in Weir and comes from a family that includes 11 brothers and sisters.

5-11 192 FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: Johnson was a 7th round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers last season, then was signed by the Giants after the Steelers released him in August. During the regular season, Nate was used almost exclusively on special teams and appeared in all 16 games, primarily on kickoff and punt return coverages where he could utilize his great speed.

He appeared in other games as a reserve wide receiver, and also had five KOR for 89 yards and a 17.8 average. With 4.4 speed in the 40, Nate should get a long look at WR during this forthcoming training camp. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Nate began his college career at Mott Junior College in Flint, Mich. as a running back and wide receiver. He was the national 60-yard dash Junior College champion there, and then finished at Hillsdale College where he played DB as well as RB and WR. Johnson also won varsity track letters at Hillsdale, clocking a 9.2 in the 100-yard dash.

PERSONAL: Nathaniel Johnson was born in St. Petersburg, Fla., on May 12, 1957, and starred in football and track at Dixie Hollins H.S. in St. Petersburg, Fla. Nate and his wife, Debbie, have a 4-year-old daughter, Natalie.

55*BRIAN KELLEY*Linebacker*Calif. Lutheran*9/1/51*6-3*222*D-14 '73*9th Year

PRO: After having missed only two games in seven years, Kelley was finally bitten by the injury bug in '80, suffering knee injuries which required surgery and put him out of action for 14 games. Initially, he hurt the knee in the final pre-season game vs. the Jets, then came back into the lineup for games against Washington and Philadelphia before reinjuring the knee and missing the rest of the year. Selected in the 14th round of the 1973 draft by the Giants, Brian has been a steady and versatile player ever since his rookie season. Since that time, he has been a starter at all of the linebacking positions at one time or another, leading the club in tackle three consecutive years (1974-76). For the past five seasons, he's been a fixture at the weakside LB position, and while overshadowed by Pro Bowlers Brad Van Pelt and Harry Carson, nonetheless is outstanding in his own right. Recognized as an extremely heady player, Kelley came up with a 72-yard run with a blocked field goal attempt in 1978, then tossed a lateral to DE George Martin at the end of the run to get an assist on Martin's 11-yard TD run with the lateral. In 1979, Kelley had another big campaign, sharing the club lead in interceptions with three, and finishing second to Carson in total tackles with 134. He also had a fumble recovery for a 6-yard return. Nick-named "Ralph" by teammates, Kelley was named "Most Popular Giant" by CYO organization in 1977 season. GAMES PLAYED: 2, STARTED: 1.

COLLEGE: Kelley was one of the finest all-around athletes in California Lutheran history. He won four varsity letters in football, three in wrestling and three in rugby. He was both NAIA and AP Little All-American in football his senior year. Team MVP twice and the MVP in the National Championship NAIA game in 1972. In wrestling, he was the district heavyweight champion, and in rugby played on the U.S. College All-Star team. His 16 career pass interceptions was a college record at Cal Lutheran.

PERSONAL: Brian Lee Kelley was born on September 1, 1951 in Dallas, Tex., grew up in California and was an all-around star at Sunny Hills H.S. in Fullerton. He also worked summers for the Dallas Cowboys in their training camp at Thousand Oaks. Kelley now owns and operates Kelley's Restaurants in Encino. He has two uncles, Jim and John Powell, who are golf professionals.

Tackle Stanford 2/3/56
6-6 275 D-1 '78 4th Year

PRO: While King's three-year career with the Giants has been checkered by a rash of unfortunate injuries, his steady progress and vast potential has won him the starting RT spot for this year, and hopefully, for many years to come. Gordon won the starting job at RT in 1980, but was injured midway through the season and sat out a month. He bounced back, however, and reclaimed his starting position through the final six weeks of the season and turned in a strong performance throughout. As the club's top draft pick in 1978, King was initially used as a guard in his rookie pre-season period, but eventually was moved to LT where he was chiefly a reserve, although he did start several games at that spot before suffering a severe ankle injury which shelved him for the remainder of that year. In 1979, he won the starting LT job in the pre-season, then dislocated an elbow two days before the regular season opener and was out of action for eight weeks. He was then switched to the RT slot prior to the 1980 season, and has responded with such steady progress and improvement that he should now become a fixture at that RT slot. GAMES PLAYED: 12, STARTED: 9.

COLLEGE: King was a powerhouse tackle at Stanford for three seasons, all as a starter, and was a first-team All-American his senior year by both NEA and the Sporting News, as well as a second-team All-American by UPI. He was twice a first-team All-Pac 8 choice and was named MVP at Stanford in his senior year. President of his fraternity at Stanford, Gordon majored in Communications, played in the 1977 Sun Bowl game, and was selected for both the Senior Bowl and Challenge Bowl game after his senior year.

PERSONAL: Gordon David King was born in Madison, Wisc., on February 3, 1956, but grew up in California where he was an outstanding student and athlete at Bella Vista H.S. in Fair Oaks, Calif., and was one of the most widely recruited high school football players in the country. A movie buff and master of trivia, he's an avid reader of fiction and classics. Gordon is married and lives in Park Ridge, N.J.

PRO: Jerome was originally signed as a free agent by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1979, released that year and picked up by the Atlanta Falcons. He played briefly with the Falcons that season until suffering a knee injury which sidelined him for the rest of the year. King was released by the Falcons in 1980 and was signed as a FA by the Giants toward the end of last year, appearing in the final game vs. Oakland. GAMES PLAYED: 1, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: King played four years of football at Purdue as a cornerback, winning four varsity letters. He played in the initial Challenge Bowl game as a senior and was an honorable mention All-Big 10 choice in that final year. A Business Administration major, Jerome earned a BS degree and is interested in a career in investment sales.

PERSONAL: Jerome Manual King was born in Jersey City, N.J. on January 4, 1955 and was a standout scholastic star at Lincoln H.S. in Jersey City. A bachelor, he still resides in Jersey City and has worked in the stock exchange during off-seasons.

PRO: One of the biggest blows the Giants suffered in 1980 was the loss of this veteran running back who had been a starter virtually all of his career. Kotar went down with a knee injury in the final pre-season game vs. the Jets, underwent surgery and was out for the entire campaign. One of the most productive Giant trades in recent years took place in July, 1974, when the Giants sent free agent QB Leo Gasiencia to the Pittsburgh Steelers for free agent running back Kotar. Gasiencia was waived by the Steelers that same Summer, but Kotar, conversely, has put in six solid seasons with the Giants, finishing each year as either the No. 1 or 2 rusher on the club. In his six campaigns with the Giants, Kotar, (nicknamed "Kokomo" by teammates), has accumulated 3,224 yards rushing, which has him 5th on the club's alltime rushing list, and just 48 yards short of Eddie Price's 3,292 yards in fourth place. Kotar was the Giants' leading rusher in 1976 (731 yards) and in 1978 (625 yards), and in his other four years, finished second, including 1979 when his 616 yards was second to Billy Taylor's 700 total. Doug has had four 100-yard rushing days in his career with the Giants, and is the co-holder of the Giants' alltime record for most passes caught in one game, (11), accomplishing that in 1976 vs. St. Louis. He has also doubled as a kickoff and punt return specialist during his career. His best year in receiving was 1976 when he caught 36 for 319 yards, giving him career totals of 117 receptions to go with his 3,224 yards rushing. GAMES PLAYED: 0, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Doug lettered for three seasons at Kentucky as a running back, although most of his senior season was spent on the sidelines due to injuries. Nonetheless, he finished his career with 1,167 yards rushing for the Wildcats. He made an auspicious debut at Kentucky, running back the opening kickoff of his first varsity game for 90 yards and a TD.

PERSONAL: Douglas Allan Kotar was born on June 11, 1951 in Canonsburg, Pa., and played his scholastic sports at Canon-McMillan H.S. in his hometown. Doug and wife, Donna, still reside in Canonsburg with son Doug Jr., 7, and daughter Christie, 4.

PRO: Drafted on the 3rd round by the Giants last year, Lapka was injured during the pre-season and sat out the early portion of the regular season on Injured Reserve. He was eventually reactivated and played in the final 10 games of the year as a reserve defensive lineman at both nose tackle and defensive end. He had 11 tackles (6 solo, 5 assist) in that reserve role, and had a solid game in the 27-21 win over the Green Bay Packers when he was in on two QB sacks on Packer QB Lynn Dickey. With the Giants going completely with a 3-4 defense in 1981, Lapka is expected to make a strong bid for the starting spot at the nose tackle position. GAMES PLAYED: 10, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Myron won three varsity letters at Southern California as a defensive tackle, registering 24 quarterback sacks over those three campaigns. He had 11 solo tackles in his senior season against Notre Dame and won second team All-Pac 10 honors that year. He was additionally selected to play in the Senior Bowl after his final campaign at USC.

PERSONAL: Myron Lynn Lapka was born in Van Nuys, Calif., on May 10, 1956, and played at Chatsworth H.S. there where he was both a defensive lineman and also played some fullback on offense. PRO: A 7th round choice last year, Chris proved his versatility during the regular season by playing at several positions—defensive end, defensive tackle and at linebacker. All told, he appeared in 10 games and started twice, and also participated on special teams' play. One of his biggest plays during the year was a thunderous hit on Denver QB Craig Morton which kayoed the Bronco. This forthcoming season, Linnin is projected as a defensive end in the 3-4 alignment. GAMES PLAYED: 10, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Linnin began his career at Washington on offense, but made the switch so successfully that he was named the most improved defensive lineman in the 1979 season. All told, he played three varsity seasons, and during his two defensive years, logged 134 tackles, with 18 of those being for losses. He also had two pass interceptions for 63 yards returned as a DT.

PERSONAL: Christopher Bennett Linnin was born in Pasadena, Calif., on May 4, 1957 and graduated from Arcadia H.S. in Arcadia, Calif., after three earlier years at John Muir H.S. in Pasadena where he was a teammate of WR Danny Pittman. Chris started and now owns his own security company, the Linnin Security Co., which specializes in crowd control.

PRO: Steady veteran saw extensive action in '80 until shoulder injury and cracked ribs put him out of action for final five games of the season. Up until that point, Frank had filled in admirably as a starter for six games registering 57 tackles (32 solo, 25 assists), his first NFL interception, a QB sack and a blocked EP attempt. His 14 tackles vs. Tampa Bay was a one-game season high for the club. Marion was originally signed as a free agent by the Giants in 1976 after playing with Memphis in the WFL. He was released by the Giants in '76, then re-signed for the 1977 season. He played in three games that year, then was injured and missed the remainder of that campaign. In 1978, he appeared in all 16 games, mostly with special team units, but he was a starter twice in place of an injured Brad Van Pelt—the season opener vs. Tampa Bay and the San Francisco game—and responded with 9 and 10 tackles respectively in those two games. Also had a fumble recovery against the 49ers. In 1979, Marion was again one of the leaders of the special teams' units, playing in all 16 games and leading the club in tackles covering kickoffs and punts. GAMES PLAYED: 11, STARTED: 6.

COLLEGE: Frank lettered for four seasons at Florida A & M as a defensive end, and was selected as Defensive MVP in three of those four seasons. He was also selected as Player of the Week twice in conference play.

PERSONAL: Frank N. Marion II was born on March 16, 1951 in Mount Brook, Fla., and played his high school sports at both Lincoln H.S. and Gainesville H.S. He lists tennis and fishing as his favorite hobbies, is married to the former Patricia Summers and has a son, Frank III, 3.

75*Defensive End*6-4 245*GEORGE MARTIN*Oregon*D-11 '75*2/16/53*7th Year

PRO: Versatility and dependability have been the key words in George's six seasons with the Giants. A starter at defensive LE since midway through his rookie season in 1975, Martin led the club in QB sacks in both 1978 and 1979 and added eight more last year to give him a total of 29 sacks for the past three campaigns. He finished with 86 tackles last year (52-34) to rank fourth on the club in that department, and also had a fumble recovery to up his career total in that department to seven. He's also had some topnotch one-game performances in his career, including four sacks on Redskin Joe Theismann in a 17-6 Giants' win in 1978 and 3½ sacks on Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski in a 24-3 Giants' win in 1979. George also has the distinction of having scored three TDs in his career—the first on a 30-yard interception return vs. Washington in 1977; the second on an 11-yard run with a lateral after a blocked FG attempt vs. Atlanta in 1978, and the third last season when he lined up as a tight end on a short yardage situation and caught a 4-yard TD pass from Phil Simms in a 38-35 upset win over Dallas. Martin has also been a three-time winner of the Byron "Whizzer" White Award for team contribution, as voted by his teammates, and was the Giants' representative in 1979 on the United Way public service television commercial. In six seasons, he's missed only four games, all four in 1977 when he had a knee injury late in the season. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Martin was an Art Education major at Oregon, where he won three varsity letters in football as both a tight end and defensive end, and two varsity letters in basketball as a teammate of NBA star Lonnie Shelton. He had 83 tackles in his senior season, including big days against Michigan and Northwestern. In high school, Martin was Student Body president and was named to the Outstanding Teenagers in America listing.

PERSONAL George Dwight Martin was born on February 16, 1953 in Greenville, S.C., but grew up in California where he was an All-American in basketball and All-State in football at Armijo H.S. in Fairfield, Calif. George and his wife, Diane, have three children—a daughter, Teresa Michelle, and two sons, George Dwight II and Benjamin Dean. George's younger brother, Doug, was a standout defensive end at the University of Washington last season and was the No. 1 draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings in 1980.

He worked hard during the training camp, eventually made the final 45-man roster, and when the club went to the 3-4 defense, ended up as the starting nose tackle. Despite missing the final three games of the year with an injury, McGriff concluded the year by being named to the All-NFL Rookie team, and had a total of 52 tackles on 32 solos and 20 assists. Big and strong, he should continue to show improvement and could either be used again at nose tackle or as a defensive end in the 3-4. GAMES PLAYED: 13, STARTED: 11.

COLLEGE: McGriff was on the varsity squad for four seasons under coach Bear Bryant, and won three varsity letters for the Crimson Tide as a defensive tackle. He was a part of that unit which made the big, and successful, goal line stand against Penn State in the 1979 Sugar Bowl.

PERSONAL: Curtis McGriff was born in Donaldsonville, Ga., on May 17, 1958, but grew up in Alabama where he played his scholastic sports at Cottonwood H.S. in Cottonwood, Ala. He currently makes his off-season home in Gordon, Ala.

3rd Year

PRO: Originally a 7th round choice of the Buffalo Bills, Mullady (pronounced Mull-a-dee) was signed by the Giants as a FA in November, 1979 and appeared in just two games that season as a special teams' man. Last year, after participating in the off-season work program, Tom was highly impressive during the pre-season schedule and won a spot on roster as the backup TE. He appeared in all 16 games, starting three of those, and had some sparkling moments, finishing the year with 28 receptions for 391 yards, a 14.0 average and two TDs, to finish third in the receiving department. Tom had seven receptions in one game, against the Eagles, and registered his TD grabs against the Redskins and in the 38-35 win over Dallas. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: Mullady played four varsity seasons at Southwestern, with three of those as a starter. He was an All-Conference choice three times, Conference MVP in 1978 and had his jersey retired after his final season after setting alltime school records for receptions (149); yardage (2,152); and for single game standards of 13 receptions in one game and 267 yards in one game. He had 50 catches in his senior year for 776 yards and nine touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Thomas Francis Mullady was born in Dayton, Ohio on January 30, 1957, and played his high school sports at McCollie School in Chattanooga, Tenn., where his father is a physician. Mullady is of Irish descent and lists all outdoor sports as hobbies.

5 CLIFF OLANDER
Quarterback New Mex. St. 4/15/55
5 187 T '80 5th Year

BIO: Cliff came to the Giants in a trade with the San Diego Chargers for an 11th round draft choice just prior to the start of the regular season last year. He was with the club for all 16 regular season games as the No. 3 quarterback and backup punter, but did not see any action. Originally a 5th round draft pick of the Chargers in 1977, Cliff's career stats with the Chargers included 12 completions in 24 attempts for 125 yards and eight rushing attempts for 27 yards and a 3.4 average. The highlight of his career there came in 1977 when he got a starting assignment vs. the Oakland Raiders and turned in a 12-7 upset victory. GAMES PLAYED: 0, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Olander won four varsity letters at New Mexico State as a quarterback and punter, and was named to the All-Missouri Conference team in his senior year. He was also named NMSU's most valuable player that same season, and additionally won varsity letters in baseball.

PERSONAL: Clifford Valmore Olander was born in Hartford, Conn. on April 15, 1955 and played high school sports at both Clear Creek H.S. in League City, Tex., and at Arvada H.S. in Arvada, Colo. Cliff is married to the former Jane Tremper of Goshen, N.Y. and now resides in Ramsey, N.J. in the off-season.

1 DON PATTERSON
Defensive Back Georgia Tech 10/31/57
-11 175 FA '80 3rd Year

BIO: Signed as a FA by the Giants in late season, Patterson was originally with the Atlanta Falcons in 1979, was released and signed with the Detroit Lions that season, appearing in two games as a special teams' player. With the Giants last season, Don saw action in three games, also as a special teams' player and backup cornerback. GAMES PLAYED: 3, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Patterson won four letters as a DB at Georgia Tech, and was a starter for his final three campaigns. He was elected defensive captain in his senior year and also won team MVP honors that year. Finished with eight interceptions, one for a TD, during his college career and earned a degree in Industrial Management.

PERSONAL: Donald Ray Patterson was born in Gray, Ga., on October 31, 1957 and won academic and athletic honors at Gray H.S. in his hometown. Now makes his home in Atlanta during the off-seasons.

LEON PERRY

8/14/57

2nd Year

PRO: Signed as a free agent in the Spring of 1980 Perry showed solid potential during the pre-season in outings against the Steelers and Broncos, then was activated during the regular season and turned in some outstanding performances. All told, Leon appeared in 10 games during the season, with five of those as the starting fullback, and responded with the club's top rushing average, 4.6, on 59 carries for 272 yards. Leon also had eight pass receptions for another 84 yards and had two TDs overall. In his first start of the year Perry had 52 yards rushing and a TD in the 38-35 upset over Dallas, then had his best day against Super Bowl champion Oakland when he rushed for 98 yards on 15 carries and also caught an 11-yard TD pass. A strong blocker, Leon should make a solid bid for the starting FB job in 1981. GAMES PLAYED: 10, STARTED: 5.

COLLEGE: Perry played four years of varsity football at Ole Miss, the last two as the starting fullback, and won high ratings for his toughness, durability and outstanding blocking ability.

PERSONAL: Leon Perry was born in Gloster, Miss., on August 14, 1957 and was a schoolboy sports star at Gloster H.S. in his hometown. Leon and his wife, Myrtis, now live in Jackson, Miss. in the off-season.

JOHNNY PERKINS

4/21/53

4th Year

PRO: After being the Giants' leading receiver in 1978, Perkins has been hampered by injuries the past two years. Last year, he suffered a torn hamstring and missed the final 10 games of the season after being in-and-out of the lineup in 1979. He had three TD grabs in '80, including a 58-yarder vs. St. Louis in the opener, but after catching 14 passes in the first six games, was injured and out for the year. When he's in top form

Perkins presents a solid deep threat with his good size and 4.5 speed. A reserve through the early portion of his rookie campaign, Johnny became a starter midway through that season, then led the club with 32 catches in 1978, including a game-clinching 7-yarder for a TD vs. Tampa Bay in that year's season opener when he had four grabs for 110 yards. In 1979, he caught the clinching TD pass, a 14-yarder, in the 20-14 upset win over Los Angeles, and also had a 32-yard TD grab vs. Dallas at Giants Stadium. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 4.

COLLEGE: Johnny began his collegiate career at Ranger Junior College in Texas, then finished at Abilene Christian where he won letters in both football and track, catching 98 passes for 2,190 yards and 18 TDs in his two seasons where he made All-Conference both seasons and was the Conference MVP as well. A punter, he averaged 40.1 for two years, and in track had times of 9.6 in the 100 and 47.8 in the 440 and was a member of the college's championship 440-yard relay team.

PERSONAL: John Eugene Perkins was born in Franklin, Tex., on April 21, 1953 and was a three-sport star at Granbury H.S. Perkins has nine brothers and sisters, lists fishing as his favorite hobby, and still lives in Granbury during the off-seasons.

PRO: Danny proved to be a valuable addition to the club during his rookie season last year, appearing in 11 games and starting in seven of those. Pittman finished the season with 25 receptions for 308 yards and a 12.3 average to finish as the second leading WR on the club, and he was the Giants' leading receiver in three games, getting five catches vs. Denver and four each vs. St. Louis and Oakland. He also had two kickoff returns during the year for 41 yards and a 20.5 average, and proved to be a solid all-around player with fine blocking ability and exceptional speed. With a year's experience behind him, he should be in real contention for even more work in 1981. GAMES PLAYED: 11, STARTED: 7.

COLLEGE: Pittman began his collegiate career at Pasadena City College, then concluded with two years at Wyoming where he won honorable mention All-American honors as well as first team All-WAC accolades. His two-year totals at Wyoming showed 56 receptions for 1,100 yards, a 19.6 average-per-catch, and nine TDs, as well as 30 KOR for 604 yards and a 20.1 average. He was named to play in both the East-West Shrine game and Senior Bowl after his final season.

PERSONAL: Danny Ray Pittman was born in Memphis, Tenn., on April 3, 1958 and played his high school sports at John Muir H.S. in Pasadena, Calif., where he was a teammate of CB Mike Dennis, who also played with him at Wyoming. Pittman still makes his home in Pasadena during the off-seasons.

BEASLEY REECE

3/18/54

PRO: Originally a 9th round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, Reece has been a solid addition to the Giants since being signed as a free agent in 1977. Last season was another good one for Beasley as he finished third in total tackles (94 on 53 solo and 41 assists), had three pass interceptions for 24 yards and a pair of fumble recoveries for 14 yards returned. In addition, he filled in as a return man with 24 KOR for 471 yards and a 19.6 average and two PR for 15 yards and a 7.5 average. That made it two successive fine seasons for Reece who had been plagued by injuries in both 1977 and 1978, since he led the secondary in tackles with 117 in 1979 and had three fumble recoveries and an interception. With fine 4.5 speed and the ability to always be around the ball, Reece is being moved to free safety for the 1981 season where he can use all of that speed and that nose-for-the-ball instinct. Was very impressive at the FS position during the May veterans' mini-camp sessions. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 14.

COLLEGE: Reece began his collegiate career as a non-scholarship student at North Texas State, majoring in journalism, then won himself a spot on the varsity as a walk-on product. During his career at NTS, Reece was a cornerback and return specialist and had four interceptions in his final two campaigns, one a 41-yard return which set up a TD vs. Tennessee.

PERSONAL: Beasley Reece was born in Waco, Tex., on March 18, 1954 and was a sparkling all-around athletic star at Waco H.S. Married, he lives in New Jersey now during the off-seasons, has been in demand as an after-dinner speaker and comes from a football-oriented family since among his cousins are RB Greg Pruitt of the Cleveland Browns and DB Randy Logan of Philadelphia.

Running Back So. Car. St. 8/31/55
6-3 215 FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: A 5th round draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles last year, Nate was signed as a FA by the Giants in November after being released by the Eagles. He appeared in the final six games of the season, being used exclusively on the special teams. A quarterback in college, Rivers was tried as a wide receiver by the Eagles, but worked as a running back during his brief tenure with the Giants. With size and good speed, he'll get a look at halfback during the 1981 training camp. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman at South Carolina State, Nate earned numerous honors during his collegiate career, winning All-Conference first-team honors in 1978, team MVP honors in both 1977 and '78, and Conference Player of the Year designation in 1978. He played in the Black All-Star game in 1979, holds the school record for most touchdowns scored, career, with 33, and also the one-season average-per-rush standard of 8.9. He also won two varsity letters in track.

PERSONAL: Nathaniel Rivers was born in Charleston, S.C., on August 31, 1955, and played his scholastic sports at St. John's H.S. in John's Island, S.C. Nate, his wife, Elaine, and a son now reside in Orangeburg, S.C. in the off-season.

59*Center*6-3*246*KELLY SAALFELD*Nebraska*FA '80*1/16/57*2nd Year

PRO: Saalfeld (pronounced Saul-feld) was a 9th round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1980, was released by the Pack and then signed as a FA with the Giants in mid-season. During his seven-game stint with the Giants, he was the reserve center and handled all of the long snaps for the kicking game and special teams' play. Big, strong and quick, Saalfeld will be competing once again for the backup job at center when training camp begins. GAMES PLAYED: 7, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Kelly won three varsity letters at Nebraska as the starting center there and was named to the All-Big 8 team twice, to the second-team All-America by AP in 1979, and was also an All-Academic selection in two years in the Big 8. He earned a B.S. degree in Agricultural Economics and was named to play in the Senior Bowl after his final season.

PERSONAL: Kelly D. Saalfeld was born in Columbus, Neb., on January 16, 1957 and was a standout scholastic player at Lakeview H.S. in Columbus. He's married to the former Sue Dwyer of Hastings, Neb., and has a younger sister, Kristien who was the 1978 Miss Teenage Nebraska and the 1981 runnerup in the Miss Nebraska competition.

87*Tight End*6-1*220*Morehead State*FA '76*GARY SHIRK*2/23/50*6th Year

PRO: Signed as a virtually anonymous FA in 1976 after spending two years with Memphis in the WFL, Shirk has been an ironman ever since for the Giants. Considered "too small and too slow" when he first appeared on the scene in '76, all Shirk has done since that time is play in every single game, contribute to special teams, return short kickoffs, block...you name it. And, after being a reserve TE for a couple of seasons, Shirk became a starter in 1979 and led the club in receptions with 31 for 471 yards and a pair of TDs—a 19-yarder in the 20-14 upset of Los Angeles, and a 35-yarder in a 24-3 romp over Atlanta. Last year, alternating with Tom Mullady at TE, Shirk added 21 catches for 211 yards and a TD vs. Tampa Bay and continued his leadership role. Especially tough down around the goal line, both as a blocker and receiver, five of Gary's eight career TDs have come from inside the 10. While he certainly doesn't qualify as an Olympic sprinter, he has broken off gains of 64 vs. St. Louis (77), 61 vs. San Francisco ('79) and 47 vs. Dallas ('79). During his two seasons with Memphis, Gary had 49 catches for 936 yards and eight TDs. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 14.

COLLEGE: Shirk was a three-letterman at Morehead State, and before the arrival of Phil Simms in the NFL, was the only Morehead State product in the NFL. Gary won All-Conference honors at Morehead and in 1973 was the club's MVP. Received a degree in Physical Education.

PERSONAL: Gary Lee Shirk was born in Marysville, Ohio on February 23, 1950, and played his high school sports at Marysville H.S. He and his wife, Linda, still live in Marysville with daughters Angela and Kristin, and son, Jeffrey.

11/3/55

3rd Year

PRO: Strong young QB had 193 completions last year, and was well on his way to setting a new one-season club record when he injured his shoulder and sat out final three games of the year. Before the injury, Phil had some powerful games, including firing five TD passes in the season-opening 41-35 win over St. Louis and back-to-back 300-plus passing yardage games in wins over Dallas and Green Bay, in which he threw TDs in each of those wins. He also had 22 completions vs. Tampa Bay, and finished as the club's fourth leading rusher with 190 yards and a 5.3 average. The Giants' No. 1 selection in the 1979 draft, Simms did not make his NFL debut until the fifth week of that season when he appeared in a relief role against New Orleans. A week later, he made his initial NFL starting appearance, then proceeded to lead the club to six victories in the next eight games. Unheralded at the time of the draft, by season's end Simms was a unanimous All-NFL Rookie team selection at quarterback and was runnerup in the NFC Rookie of the Year voting to Ottis Anderson of the Cardinals. His first start, against at-that-time undefeated Tampa Bay, produced a 17-14 Giant triumph and a week later he threw for 300 yards and a pair of touchdowns in a 32-16 romp over San Francisco. Two more victories followed to give him a perfect 4-for-4 in starting roles, including a pair of TD throws in a 20-14 upset of eventual NFC Champion Los Angeles. GAMES PLAYED: 13, STARTED: 13.

COLLEGE: Only the second Morehead State player to make it in the NFL (teammate Gary Shirk is the other), Simms set alltime college marks with 409 completions for 5,545 yards and 32 touchdowns at Morehead, and also set single season marks with 370 yards vs. Tennessee Tech and four TD passes vs. Marshall, those one-game records coming in 1977. During his four varsity seasons, Phil was an honorable mention All-American by the Sporting News, and was named Offensive Player of the Year and first-team All-Conference in the Ohio Valley Conference as a junior...but made only second-team All-Conference as a senior when Morehead eschewed the passing game and opted for a ball-control offense.

PERSONAL: Phillip Simms was born in Springfield, Ky., on November 3, 1955 and played his high school sports at Southern H.S. in Louisville, as a QB in football and as a pitcher in baseball. Simms comes from a large family, which includes four brothers—William, Thomas, David and Joseph—and four sisters, Jeanette, Mary, Ann and Sara. Phil and his wife, Diana Fronfield, live in Wyckoff and have a son, Christopher.

3rd Year

PRO: Big, strong and quick, Simmons hasn't missed a game in his two years with the Giants, and after a rookie year in which he was used as a reserve and on special teams, he beat out veteran Doug Van Horn in last year's training camp and won the starting job at RG where he turned in a stellar all season long performance. Nicknamed "Sugar Bear" by his teammates, Simmons is one of the fastest offensive linemen on the squad, despite his bulk, and that quickness has enabled him to improve constantly on pulling to lead sweeps and in his downfield blocking. Also a participant in the off-season work program, he's improved in overall strength and teamed with J. T. Turner, gives the Giants a big plus-factor in a tandem of rapidly improving and dependable guards.

GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: Roy won varsity letters in football at Georgia Tech and was a starter on both offense and defense with the Yellow Jackets. He spent his first two seasons as an offense guard, then switched to the nose tackle on defense in his junior year where he performed nobly. He finished his senior year back on offense.

PERSONAL: Roy Simmons was born in Savannah, Ga., on November 8, 1956 and won letters in both football and track at Beach H.S. in Savannah. Despite his size (240 in high school), he ran on the school's 440-yard relay squad and has done 10 flat in the 100-yard dash. Also was a standout shot-putter and discus thrower. Comes from a family of 11 children, and now resides in East Rutherford, N.J. during the off-seasons.

65 JOHN SINNOTT
Tackle Brown 4/18/58
6-4 275 FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: John was a 3rd round draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1980, but was released near the end of their training camp. The Giants signed him as a FA in late October, and he was on the active roster for the final eight games, although he did not see any action. Offensive line coach Bill Austin feels, however, that the big guy has lots of potential, and an off-season work program has increased his strength and mobility. With that size and strength, he should get a long look in the 1981 training camp.
GAMES PLAYED: 0, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Sinnott was co-captain at Brown for two years and a first-team All-Ivy League selection in both his junior and senior seasons, as well as an All-East choice for both of those seasons. Also lettered in track as a shot-putter, winning All-Ivy honors there as well and competing in the IC4As. Set a freshman record with a heave of 56'4". A Civil Engineering major, he works for an engineering firm during the off-seasons.

PERSONAL: John was born in Wexford, Ireland on April 18, 1958 and moved to the United States and became a citizen when he was in the fifth grade. He now makes his home in Dedham, Mass., where he was a high school All-American in both football and track at Dedham H.S.

57 JOHN SKORUPAN
Linebacker Penn State 5/17/51
6-3 225 FA '78 9th Year

PRO: Veteran linebacker had a productive season in 1980, stepping into a starting role when the LB corps was injury-riddled. For most of the season, Skorupan was the leading tackler, then he went down with a knee injury himself, underwent arthroscopic surgery and missed the final four games. He finished with 83 tackles (50 solo, 33 assist), and had two fumble recoveries. Skorupan came to the Giants on waivers from the Buffalo Bills in 1978 and stepped right in as a reserve linebacker and special teams' player.

Originally a No. 6 draft pick of the Bills in 1973, Skorupan spent five seasons with Buffalo and was a starting linebacker for two seasons, 1975-76. He was named to the UPI All-NFL Rookie team in 1973, then suffered a knee injury and was out of action most of the 1974 season. He suffered another knee injury requiring surgery early in 1977 and was out for the remainder of that year. In 1978, John played in all 16 games with the Giants, and came up with four kickoff returns for a 13.0 average, then continued to contribute solidly in 1979 on special teams' units. He had a blocked punt against the Cardinals which set up a subsequent TD, and also scored a safety vs. The 49ers. GAMES PLAYED: 12, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Skorupan was a three-year starter at linebacker for Penn State under Joe Paterno and was an All-East selection in all three of those seasons. He was also selected for the AP, UPI and Kodak All-American teams in his senior year, and was named AP's Lineman of the Week that same season. He also played in both the Sugar and Cotton Bowl games and was named to play in the Hula Bowl and College All-Star games after his senior year. His top game that year against Navy when he had 17 unassisted tackles, 3 QB sacks and an interception.

PERSONAL: John Paul Skorupan was born on May 17, 1951 in Beaver, Pa., and was an All-State football star at Beaver Area H.S. He and his wife, Sara have a son, Robert, 5 and a daughter, Katherine, 4.

78 GEORGE SMALL
Defensive Tackle No. Car. A&T 1/18/56
6-3 255 FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: George was originally with the Pittsburgh Steelers as a free agent guard in 1979, but was released by the Steelers and signed with the Giants in early 1980. Initially, Small was tried at guard with the Giants in training camp, then made the switch to defensive nose tackle when he was reactivated late in the season. George appeared in a reserve role for the games in which he was active, but did have one opponent fumble recovery. This year in camp, he'll get a long look again at the nose tackle position. GAMES PLAYED: 7, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Small was a highly versatile player at North Carolina A&T, playing on offense as a guard, tackle and fullback, and on defense as both a tackle and MLB. He was named to the Pittsburgh Courier's Black All-American team after his senior season.

PERSONAL: George Michael Small was born in Shreveport, La., on January 18, 1956 and grew up in North Carolina where he was a standout all-around athlete at Raeford H.S. in Hoke County, N.C. in football, track and wrestling. He went to the State heavyweight finals in wrestling, losing to Joe Bostic, now a guard with the St. Louis Cardinals.

80 PHIL TABOR
Defensive Tackle Oklahoma 11/30/56
6-5 255 D-4 '79 2nd Year

PRO: The 4th round pick in 1979, Phil saw extensive duty last year on the defensive line, mostly at DT, and was also in action all 16 games as a special teams' man. He finished the year with 51 tackles (28 solo, 23 assists), added three QB sacks for 25 yards and had a blocked EP attempt vs. Washington. As a rookie, Tabor proved he could play in the NFL. He won himself a starting job at DT early in the year and performed strongly, winning All-NFL Rookie team honors from Football Digest. During the regular campaign, he had 38 tackles and 3½ traps for 31 yards, in addition to a fumble recovery. Such was Tabor's quickness, that many of his solo tackles were behind the line of scrimmage for losses. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 6.

COLLEGE: Phil won four varsity letters in football at Oklahoma and was a starter in three of those years, finishing his collegiate career with 294 total tackles, 21 QB sacks and seven fumble recoveries. He was a first-team All-Big 8 choice in 1978 and honorable mention All-American that same year and was selected to play in the Challenge Bowl. His best one-game stats in '78 showed 16 tackles vs. Nebraska and 14 vs. Kansas. Phil majored in Petroleum Land Management at Oklahoma.

PERSONAL: Philip Tabor was born in Houston, Tex., on November 30, 1956 and won letters in football, basketball and track at Spring Branch H.S. there, gaining national recognition in both the shot-put and discus. His twin brother, Paul, starred as an offensive lineman with Phil at Oklahoma and was drafted as a center by the Chicago Bears in 1980.

38 BILLY TAYLOR
Running Back Texas Tech 7/6/56
6-0 215 D-4 '78 4th Year

PRO: Taylor had to endure a season in which he suffered from nagging knee problems, missing the first four games of the year because of that problem, and two later games when the knee bothered him again. Despite all of that, he finished as the leading rusher for the second year in succession, gaining 580 yards in just 10 appearances and catching 33 passes for another 253 yards, with four TDs overall. He tied an alltime club record by catching 11 passes vs. Tampa Bay and had his third 100-yard rushing day when he went 103 yards in the win over Seattle. After a promising rookie season in 1978 when he was strictly a reserve RB, Billy came into prominence in 1979 with a flourish. He made his first NFL start at halfback a good one—bursting loose for 148 yards rushing on 33 carries in the 17-14 triumph over Tampa Bay at Giants Stadium. In the 14-6 upset win over Washington, Taylor ripped off 126 yards on 27 carries and on winning TD drive, the Giants went 14 plays for 79 yards, with Taylor carrying 13 of the 14 plays for 75 of the yards and the clinching TD. Billy finished the season with 87 yards against Baltimore to give him 700 yards for the year on 198 carries and seven TDs to lead the club in those categories. He had three TD catches in a 29-20 loss to St. Louis and he added 131 yards on kickoff returns to give him total yardage of 1,084 for the season. As a rookie, "B.T." scored a TD in his first pre-season game against Cleveland on a 15-yard pass, then had his top games, in reverse, against Tampa Bay (9 carries, 52 yards), and San Francisco (16 for 60) en route to 250 yards for the season. GAMES PLAYED: 12, STARTED: 10.

COLLEGE: Billy won four varsity letters at Texas Tech as a running back, and had an outstanding senior season, finishing with 965 yards rushing on 209 carries for a 4.5 average and 13 TDs. His four-year rushing total was 2,169 yards on 451 carries for a 5.0 average and 29 touchdowns. Holds Texas Tech alltime record with five touchdowns in single game, vs. T.C.U. in 1977 when he also rushed 20 times for 151 yards. Billy also won two varsity letters in track at Texas Tech and was a member of the school's 440-yard relay team.

PERSONAL: William Turner Taylor was born on July 6, 1956 in Charlotte N.C. and was a football, basketball and track star at John Jay H.S. in San Antonio, Tex., winning All-State honors in football. Both of Billy's parents are educators—his father, William Sr., is a Professor of Sociology at the University of Mississippi and his mother, Mary, is a school teacher in Houston.

STEVE TOBIN

3/29/57

5th Year

PRO: Signed as a FA in the Spring of 1980, Steve did a fine job in training camp and won himself a spot on the final 45-man roster as the backup center and long snapper. He appeared in the first four games of the season in those roles, then suffered back injuries which kept him out of the remainder of the season on Injured Reserve. After an off-season of rehabilitation work, he should be ready to make another bid in 1981. GAMES

PLAYED: 4, STARTED: 0.

COLLEGE: Tobin was a durable four-year letterman at Minnesota, playing offensive center for all four of those campaigns in the Big-10. A Geology major, he had a strong performance in Minnesota's victory over Purdue at the Gophers' Homecoming game in his senior season.

PERSONAL: Steven Arthur Tobin was born in Breckenridge, Minn., on March 29, 1957, and after competing in both Little League and the Punt, Pass & Kick program as a youngster, was a standout at Moorhead H.S. in Moorhead, Minn. A bachelor, Steve hopes to own his own restaurant someday.

FA '77

J. T. TURNER

4/17/53

PRO: J. T. came to the Giants as a FA in 1977 after an earlier tryout with the Kansas City Chiefs and a year with Charlotte in the now defunct WFL. As a rookie with the Giants, Turner was a reserve DT, then was switched to offense the following season and promptly won a starting job at guard. Since that time, Turner has been an ironman, starting and playing in 48 consecutive games at the position and turning in topnotch performances throughout, while winning accolades from many opposing teams. Blessed with great agility and quickness for a big man, he has improved his pass-blocking each and every year, and has continued to participate in the off-season work program to improve on his overall strength. His offensive prowess is all the more remarkable since he had been strictly a defensive tackle all through college and in both the WFL and his rookie year with the Giants. GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 16.

COLLEGE: J. T. was a three-year starter at defensive tackle for Duke, winning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1974 before signing with Kansas City as a free agent. Turner also won a varsity letter in fencing at Duke, was the North Carolina state champion in fencing and won All-ACC honors in that sport as well.

PERSONAL: James Denis Turner was born on April 17, 1953 in Moultrie, Ga., then was a scholastic whiz at Ben Franklin H.S. in Philadelphia. In addition to his football and fencing prowess (he was the city fencing champion two years straight), J. T. was a National Honor Society member, and graduated 5th in a class of 408. He's also a musical star who plays the organ, trumpet, trombone, and french horn. Turner is married to the former Debra Harris and has a son, James Denis Jr., and a daughter, Nicole.

BRAD VAN PELT

Michigan St.

4/5/51

D-2 '73

9th Year

PRO: All-Pro outside LB earned his fifth straight Pro Bowl designation in 1980 after still another banner season. Recognized as one of top NFL linebackers for past several years, Van Pelt finished '80 with 109 tackles (59 solo, 50 assists), had three pass interceptions to increase his career total to 15, added three opponent fumble recoveries for 46 yards returned to give him eight career recoveries, and tacked on a QB sack as well. Two of his interceptions came in the 38-35 win over Dallas, and both set up TDs. His 32-yard return with a fumble vs. Washington in December was the longest of his career. Back in 1973, the Giants took a gamble when they selected Van Pelt as their top pick in the second round of the draft (the club did not have a No. 1 that year) since the big guy was a heavily sought after major league pitching prospect. That gamble has reaped a harvest. After a slow start in his rookie season, Brad has come on to become one of the top linebackers in the NFL. As a rookie, he was hampered by minor injuries, and indecision by the coaches as to where to play him. He was tried at tight end, linebacker and even strong safety, but once he settled in at strongside linebacker, he has continued to be an outstanding player. He's had any number of big games, but perhaps his best was against Detroit in 1976 when he dedicated his performance to his recently deceased father, Arnold, and won NFL Player of the Week honors from the New York Daily News by registering 10 solo tackles, two interceptions and two QB sacks in a one-man show that produced a 24-10 Giant victory. GAMES PLAYED: 15, STARTED: 14.

COLLEGE: Van Pelt was the veritable one-man band at Michigan State. He was a three-year starter at the "monster" position, was All-Big 10 three times, and All-American twice. Won the Maxwell Trophy and was MSU's Most Valuable Player in 1972. Had 14 career interceptions and also found time to win two letters in varsity basketball and two in baseball where he was All-Big 10 twice as a powerhouse right-handed pitcher, setting strikeout records which resulted in the St. Louis Cardinals offering him $100,000 bonus money to go baseball.

PERSONAL: Brad Alan Van Pelt was born in Owosso, Mich. on April 5, 1951 and was all-everything at Owosso H.S. after being a Little League and Punt, Pass and Kick winner too. Brad and his wife, Susan, have three sons—Arnold Justen, Bret Christopher, and Bradley.

Tackle Notre Dame 4/10/56
6-5 275 FA '79 3rd Year

PRO: Originally a defensive tackle, Weston made the switch to offensive tackle last year, and was showing marked improvement when he suffered a knee injury early in the season, underwent surgery, and was out of action for the final 10 games of the year. Now fully recovered, he's built his weight up to 275 pounds and was very impressive during this past May's mini-camp, so much so that he'll get a good look at the LT slot when camp opens. Giants acquired Weston in August, 1979, after he had been released by the Miami Dolphins, the club that had drafted him 9th. He reported just a few days prior to a pre-season game against San Diego, then played a half and came up with two QB sacks from a defensive tackle slot. Having made that kind of impression in his debut, he made the club as a reserve DT and special teams' player and appeared in all 16 regular season games. In 1980 Weston was switched to the offensive line and participated in the off-season workout program. GAMES PLAYED: 6, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: Jeff was a three-year-starter at DT for Notre Dame, collecting 276 tackles, including 23 for losses, during his Irish career. Missed one season because of knee surgery, but battled back from that injury to play as well as ever in following season. Had a big day in a 1975 victory over Navy when he registered 22 tackles and returned a pass interception 53 yards for a touchdown.

PERSONAL: Jeffrey Graham Weston was born in Jersey City, N.J. on April 10, 1956, then became an All-American high school tackle at Cardinal Mooney H.S. in Rochester, N.Y. He earned a B.S. degree in marketing at Notre Dame and still makes his home in Rochester.

FA '80

8/9/58

2nd Year

PRO: Signed as a FA by the Giants in the Spring of 1980, Mike worked hard in training camp and won himself a spot on the final roster, initially as a special teams' player, then as an outside linebacker when injuries began to deplete the LB corps. All told, Mike was a starter in six games and appeared in all 16, finishing the season with 43 tackles (26 solo, 17 assist) and tied for the club lead in opponent fumble recoveries with three. He also was in on a pair of QB sacks in addition to his contributions to those special teams.

GAMES PLAYED: 16, STARTED: 6.

COLLEGE: Whittington played four years at Notre Dame as a linebacker, earning four varsity letters and appearing in several Bowl games.

PERSONAL: Michael Whittington was born in Miami, Fla., on August 9, 1958, and was a standout scholastic performer in football, wrestling and track at Christopher Columbus Catholic H.S. in Miami. He still resides in Miami during the off-seasons.

KERVIN WYATT

Maryland

FA '80

10/17/57

2nd Year

PRO: Wyatt was signed as a FA in the Spring of 1980 and was given a trial as a LB, despite the fact that he had played virtually all of his collegiate career as an offensive lineman. He showed promise in training camp, but was injured after appearing in the first two pre-season games. He was reactivated late in the season and appeared in the final four games, three as a starter, and responded with 39 tackles (21 solo, 18 assists) in those four outings. He was the leading tackler vs. Washington with 10 and vs. Oakland with 8 in the final two games of the year, showing fine range, agility and hitting power. With those kind of stats for just four games, he should get a long look at inside linebacker during the 1981 camp. GAMES PLAYED: 4, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: Kervin won four letters at Maryland as both an offensive guard and tackle, was elected team captain in his senior year and won the Jim Tatum Award as the most valuable offensive lineman in that senior year. He also played in the Hula Bowl after that final season.

PERSONAL: Kervin D. Wyatt was born in Washington, D.C. on October 17, 1957, and was a solid football and basketball player at Potomac H.S. in Oxon Hill, Md. A bachelor, Wyatt is also a fine saxophone player.

OTHER VETERANS

52	JOE McLAUGHLIN
Linebacker	Massachusetts 7/1/57
6-1 235	FA '80 3rd Year

PRO: McLaughlin was originally signed as a FA by the Giants in 1979, and was released in August of that year. Green Bay claimed him on waivers later that season, and he appeared in three games for the Packers. Last year, he was in the Buffalo Bill's camp, but was released, and the Giants brought him back in November when injuries decimated the LB corps. He then saw extensive duty through the remainder of the year at an inside linebacker slot and finished with 51 tackles (30 solo, 21 assists), including game-leading tackles vs. Dallas, St. Louis and Seattle. GAMES PLAYED: 8, STARTED: 3.

COLLEGE: Joe played four seasons at Massachusetts and was a three-year starter at linebacker, winning All-Conference honors twice.

PERSONAL: Joseph McLaughlin was born in Springfield, Mass., on July 1, 1957, and played his scholastic sports at Stoneham H.S. in Stoneham, Mass. before matriculating to the University of Massachusetts. He now makes his off-season home in Avon, Colo.

66	KEVIN TURNER
Linebacker	Pacific 2/5/58
6-2 225	FA '80 2nd Year

PRO: Originally signed as a FA by the Washington Redskins in 1980, Turner was released by the 'Skins in late August, then had a brief trial with the Miami Dolphins later in the season. When the ranks of Giants' linebackers continued to dwindle because of injuries late in the year, Turner was signed as a FA by the Giants and appeared in the final three games of the season. He got a starting role in the season finale against the Oakland Raiders and came up with eight tackles and a fumble recovery. GAMES PLAYED: 3, STARTED: 1.

COLLEGE: Turner won four varsity letters at Pacific, and was a starting linebacker for his final two seasons. He concluded his collegiate career with 148 total tackles, one interception and one fumble recovery and won defensive MVP honors in his senior year.

PERSONAL: Kevin Turner was born in Fremont, Calif., on February 5, 1958 and was a standout scholastic star at Mission H.S. in San Jose. He and his wife, Diane, now reside in Stockton, Calif. in the off-season.

1981 DRAFT CHOICES

LAWRENCE TAYLOR	Linebacker	First Round
North Carolina	6-3	242

Taylor may well have been the most coveted player in the entire draft, and with good reason. A superior physical specimen blessed with tremendous athletic ability, his credentials list at North Carolina could probably stretch over two time zones. He was a unanimous first-team All-American selection by all of the major polls—AP, UPI, Football Writers, Football Coaches, Sporting News, Football News and College and Pro Football Weekly—and richly deserved all of those accolades. A runaway winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year award. Taylor's list of accomplishments during his career is seemingly endless. If there is one incisive statistic covering his senior season, consider that of his 69 solo tackles in 1980, 38 of them were either quarterback sacks (16 for 127 yards), or tackles behind the line of scrimmage for losses (22 for 149 yards) which is an ample indication of his awesome reputation as a "one-man demolition crew." Lawrence did not play football until his junior year at Lafayette H.S. in Williamsburg, Va. when he was a 5-10, 185-pounder, but by his senior year had won All-State honors. He began his career at North Carolina as a nose guard on defense and special teams' player, then as he matured and continued to improve dramatically, finally found his niche as an OLB/DE in his junior session. With 4.6 speed to go with his outstanding size, Taylor was a force to be reckoned with from sideline to sideline all during his final season, and has sufficient mobility to be able to get into pass coverage in the pro ranks. Taylor's complete stats for his three seasons on defense at NC showed 192 tackles, including 21 QB sacks and 33 tackles for losses; three fumble recoveries, 10 forced fumbles and three pass interceptions. He starred in the 1979 Gator Bowl win over Michigan, and was selected for both the 1981 East-West Shrine Game and Japan Bowl.

DAVE YOUNG	Tight End	Second Round
Purdue	6-6	242

The Giants' No. 2 pick amply fills a need for an imposing TE target for quarterback Phil Simms. In 1980, Young became the first tight end to ever lead the nation in receiving with his 67 receptions accounting for 917 yards and eight touchdowns, and those figures propelled Dave onto all of the major first-team All-American squads, including first-team designation by AP, UPI, Sporting News, Football Coaches, College and Pro Football Weekly and Walter Camp. Blessed with fine speed for such a big man (4.7 in the 40), Young concluded his career at Purdue with a 41-game pass receiving streak which was just one game short of an alltime NCAA record. While he just missed that record, Dave set other records while at Purdue, including an alltime single-game Purdue standard when he caught 12 passes for 172 yards and one TD against Michigan State this past season, and, of course, his 67 receptions in one season. Additionally, his four-year career total of 177 receptions and 2,274 yards set not only an alltime Purdue record, but an alltime Big-10 record as well, and his career total of 26 touchdown receptions is also an alltime Purdue record. Young also won his teammates' accolades as well by being voted Purdue's MVP, and showed stamina and stability by never missing a game in four seasons and starting in 43 consecutive games. If further stats are required to bolster attributes for clutch catches and speed for a big man, he grabbed the winning TD pass with 1:30 to play in Purdue's 1979 Bluebonnet Bowl victory, and was on the receiving end of a 75-yard TD connection from QB Mark Herrmann against Wisconsin in still another victory.

JOHN MISTLER	Wide Receiver	Third Round
Arizona State	6-2	186

While the Giants were not actively seeking a WR on the third round, the availability of Mistler was too good an opportunity to pass up. With a reputation for perhaps the "best hands" among the receivers in this 1981 draft, Mistler's accomplishments during his career at Arizona State were formidable. After a modest freshman season in which he caught only four passes, John blossomed during the next three campaigns and concluded his career with 113 receptions for 1,533 yards and 21 touchdowns, and in his senior year led the PAC-10 in receiving with 53 catches for 673 yards and 11 touchdowns, winning second-team All-PAC 10 honors as well as honorable mention All-American by the AP. He was also named to the East-West Shrine game after that senior season, where he impressed all of the pro scouts with his moves and catching abilities. From Tucson, Arizona, Mistler was a football and track star at Sahuaro H.S., winning All-American honors in football by Parade Magazine in his senior year. His high school receiving totals showed 149 catches for 2,500 yards and 29 TDs. Once he won himself a starting job as WR as a sophomore at Arizona State, Mistler's constant improvement was evident. As a soph, he had five catches for 81 yards and a TD against powerful UCLA, and five more for two TDs in a win over Toledo. In his junior season, Mistler raised his stats to 36 catches for 498 yards, and capped that season by being named the MVP in the 1979 Garden State Bowl at Giants Stadium when he grabbed seven passes for 148 yards.

CLIFFORD CHATMAN	Running Back	Fourth Round
Central State (Okla.)	6-2	225

There's a bruising runner with size and outstanding speed who swept all of the rushing honors nationally in NAIA Division I competition. Chatman began his career at Oklahoma, then enjoyed three outstanding seasons at Central State after transferring. In his senior season, Cliff rushed for 1,111 yards on 224 carries for a 5.0 average and 13 touchdowns, with those figures leading the nation in the NAIA Division I ratings. His three-year stats at Central State showed 3,316 yards rushing, an alltime Central State record, on 627 tries for a 5.3 average and 33 touchdowns, and when you break those figures down, that comes out to an average of 1,100 yards per season. He also averaged 123.4 yards per game rushing in his senior season, and those totals won him NAIA Division I First-Team All-American honors, as well as the NAIA District 9 MVP honors, as well as the NAIA District 9 MVP honors in 1980. His talents certainly did not go unnoticed on a major scale, since he was selected to play in both the Blue-Gray Game and Senior Bowl after last season, and he responded with 61 yards in 13 carries to lead both teams in rushing in the Blue-Gray Classic, then scored on a 4-yard TD blast for the North in that team's 23-10 Senior Bowl victory which was closely watched by pro scouts from all over the country. In his junior year, Chatman led his club to the finals of the NAIA playoffs where, despite a 20-14 loss to NAIA champion Texas A&I, he rushed for 135 yards.

BILL NEILL	Defensive Tackle	Fifth Round
Pittsburgh	6-4	255

With one of Coach Ray Perkins' pre-draft priorities being the defensive line, the Giants may well have come up with a fine prospect in Neill, who comes from the highly successful program at Pitt. Neill won four varsity letters while at Pitt, and was a starting DT for three of those seasons while earning plaudits from his defensive coach as "our best technician...he does everything extremely well." During that three-year starting career with the Panthers, Neill's production totals were constant, and he proved his strength and durability by coming back from off-season knee surgery in 1980 to have another strong season this past year. He finished the campaign with 58 tackles and five QB sacks, with his final career totals showing 190 tackles and 11 QB sacks. Scouts were particularly impressed with his toughness and competitive instincts as well as with his power at the point of attack. In some respects, he may have had his best season as a junior when he had 65 solo tackles and four QB sacks despite playing hurt much of that season—another attribute which usually impresses pro scouts. Neill won All-East honors in that junior season, then came back in 1980 to win AP All-East first-team honors as well as first-team All-East by College and Pro Football Weekly and an honorable mention All-American ranking.

MELVIN HOOVER	Wide Receiver	Sixth Round (A
Arizona State	5-11	171

A teammate of the Giants' No. 3 pick, John Mistler, Hoover was not exactly a household word among collegiate receivers in 1980, yet the Giants in general, and coach Ray Perkins in particular, feel that this swift young man has a chance to make it in the NFL. A four-year letterman at ASU, Hoover spent most of his career there rotating with other wide receivers, yet when he had the opportunity to play, proved highly productive. A case in point here took place during the 1979 season when he replaced starter Ron Washington after Washington suffered a broken nose early in a game against UCLA and Hoover came on to catch eight passes for 139 yards and one TD during the remainder of the game. He finished that season with 20 catches for a 16.8 average-per-catch, which led the team in the latter category. This past year, he again proved to be a highly capable player, finishing with 20 receptions again, but also caught the eye of Perkins who personally worked him out several times and liked what he saw. Hoover has been clocked at 4.47 and 4.48 for the 40-yard dash and Perkins believes that Mel has a lot of the same type of natural ability as Harold Jackson and Stanley Morgan of the Patriots, a pair of receivers that Perkins knows considerably about.

EDWARD O'NEAL	Running Back	Sixth Round (B)
Tuskegee	6-1	215

Although he's from a relatively small college and had some injury problems in both his junior and senior years, O'Neal has sufficient potential to warrant his selection on this round. A four-year letterman at Tuskegee, O'Neal finished his career with 2,217 yards rushing on 387 carries for an impressive 5.7 average-per-rush and has fine 4.6 speed to go with a solid build. Born on August 21, 1958 in Sylacauga, Al., he had his best season as a junior in 1979 when he rushed for 781 yards and a 6.1 average with nine touchdowns, despite missing three games with an ankle injury. This past season, a shoulder injury kept him out of action for four games, yet he still managed to rush for 465 yards and 4.8 average with five touchdowns. There's no question about his potential, particularly when certain of his outings are considered, including a 171-yard rushing performance against Bethune-Cookman this past year in which he averaged 8.9 per carry and scored two TDs, and a 155-yard rushing show against Moorehouse College in which he averaged 11.9 per carry and broke a 70-yard TD run.

LOUIS JACKSON	Running Back	Seventh Round
Cal Poly (SLO)	5-10	196

Here's another running back from a small college with the kind of potential that all pros look for. His production numbers are big ones, since he finished the 1980 season as the NCAA Division II national rushing leader with 1,424 yards on 287 carries for a 4.9 average and 12 touchdowns, while averaging 142.4 yards rushing per game. A native of Fresno, Calif., Louis was a top all-around scholastic star at Roosevelt H.S. in Fresno, winning honors in football and track. His career at Cal Poly was capped by that outstanding senior season in which he broke every existing Cal Poly rushing record and also won Division II First Team All-American honors by the AP. Jackson also possesses that breakaway speed which is a prerequisite in the draft, and has shown constant clockings of 4.6 when tested by various Giant and NFL scouts recently. Those scouts also liked what they saw on several in-person visits during the 1980 season, including a 263-yard rushing day against Santa Clara University, and a 193-yard afternoon against Fresno State.

JOHN POWERS	Guard	Eighth Round (A)
Michigan	6-3	265

Looking for depth on the offensive line, the Giants went for Michigan's veteran lineman in this round, and John has all the tools required to make it at this position. With 4.8

speed, Powers rated as the fastest lineman at Michigan in many years, and ably proved that assessment when pulling to lead sweeps and with his fine downfield blocking. An All-State tackle while in high school at Fenwick H.S. in Oak Park, Ill., Powers began his career at Michigan as a guard, then moved to the tackle position during the 1977 season at Michigan when injuries depleted that position. He continued at tackle for part of the 1978 season, then returned to guard for the balance of that campaign. Rated as one of the top offensive linemen in the country going into the 1979 season, Powers suffered a knee injury which required surgery during Spring drills, then sat out the 1979 campaign as a red shirt. He bounced back from that injury to regain his starting status at guard for 1980 and played all 12 games for the Wolverines last season, winning All-Big 10 honors first team from UPI and second team from AP, as well as gaining an AP All-American honorable mention.

MARK REED	Quarterback	Eighth Round (B
Moorhead State (Minn.)	6-3	195

Although the Giants were not seeking a quarterback in this 1981 draft, the opportunity to obtain this outstanding young QB changed a lot of minds in the drafting room. Not to be confused with Morehead State in Kentucky where current QB Phil Simms played, this Moorhead State product is in many ways similar to Simms, not only in size, but in potential. As a quarterback with a pro style offense, Reed is a strong-armed passer who was a three-year starter at his school, leading the club to an 8-2 record and a share of the Conference championship. Quick on his feet (4.6 time), he set records in every category at Moorehead State, including most career attempts (654), completions (332), yards passing (4,056), and touchdown passes (28). He also equalled an alltime school record by throwing five TD passes this past season against Bemidji State. Also showed exceptional running ability with several 100-yard rushing games during the season.

BILLY ARD	Guard	Eighth Round (C
Wake Forest	6-3	250

During the first day of the draft at the Sheraton Hotel in New York, a sign appeared in the balcony which read, "Let Ard Be Your Guard." There were obviously some Billy Ard fans at the draft, which is not surprising since the Wake Forest product hailed from nearby Watchung H.S. in New Jersey. It also turns out that Ard's father has been a Giants' season ticket holder for 17 years, so the news of the Giants taking Ard on the round must have been cause for some celebrating in Watchung that evening. Aside from all of that, Ard has plenty of credentials, including First Team All-American by the Sporting News and honorable mention All-American by both AP and UPI. He was also a First Team All-ACC selection and at season's end was named to both the Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl games. Born on March 12, 1959, Ard was a standout at Watchung H.S. before matriculating to Wake Forest.

BYRON HUNT	Linebacker	Ninth Round
S.M.U.	6-4	230

If you're looking for a truly fine all-around athlete, then Hunt fits the bill nicely. A defensive end at SMU, he'll get a try with the Giants as a linebacker and should be able to make the transition easily, judging by that ability. An All-Southwest Conference choice and honorable mention All-American, Byron is the younger brother of Sam Hunt who was a big play man with the New England Patriots... and Byron can also qualify as a big play man. All told, he finished his career at SMU with 222 tackles, six QB sacks, and four interceptions, two of which he returned for touchdowns. This past season, he blocked a punt and returned it 59 yards for a TD vs. Texas A&M, and also sped 51 yards with a deflected field goal in still another game. In 1979, he had a 3-yard interception for a TD vs. Rice, then got another TD with a 25-yard return with an interception against Houston University. A four-year starter at DE, he had any number of big games during that career, with his best tackling day coming in 1978 when he had 12 solo stops vs. Texas A&M.

MIKE BARKER	Defensive Tackle	Tenth Round
Grambling	6-4	272

Here's another example of a young man with awesome physical dimensions and raw talent who could develop into a solid professional player. As a two-year starter at Grambling in a 4-3 defense, Barker proved to be a fearsome defensive tackle in that league, registering 83 tackles and 10 QB sacks in his junior season, then coming back this past year with 101 tackles and a team-leading 14½ QB sacks, as well as two fumble recoveries and four passes batted down. For those kind of numbers, Mike was rewarded with a First-Team Little All-American designation by AP, and was also selected for the Football Coaches All-American team and as the Sheridan Defensive Player of the Year. He was also selected to play in the 1981 Black College All-Star game.

MIKE MAHER	Tight End	Twelfth Round
Western Illinois	6-5	230

The Giants' final choice in the draft is a bit of a success story. A non-scholarship player when he first enrolled at Western Illinois, Mike was a walk-on player who appeared for a tryout early in his career, sufficiently impressed the coaches enough to make the team, and then capped his career this year by being named to the Associated Press First-Team College Division All-American team at tight end... a move up from his second-team designation on that same honor team in 1979. Several Giant scouts saw Maher in action this past season, and all were impressed with his good hands, size, quickness and ability to catch the ball in a throng. He's been timed at 4.8 in the 40, is highly intelligent and working on a Business Administration degree, and gets fine ratings for his coachability.

1981 FREE AGENTS

Here, listed by positions, are brief biographical notes on the 1981 free agents due to report to the Giants' 1981 pre-season training camp at Pace University.

RUNNING BACKS—From the Canadian football League where he was the CFL Rookie of the Year in 1977 with the British Columbia Lions, 5-9, 190-pound LEO BRIGHT has impressive credentials. He spent four seasons in the CFL and had 4 receptions for 816 yards and seven TDs in that rookie year. He's also played DB, but the Giants see him as a bonafide return specialist and RB. Last year, he had 790 yards in punt returns for a 16.8 average and 635 yards in kickoff returns for a 25.4 average. Bright hails from Florida State...A four-year letterman at Jacksonville State is CEDRIC BROWNLEE is a rugged 5-10, 210-pounder who won All-Conference honors in 1980. A native of Fayetteville, Tenn., he has a cousin, Jim Joiner, who was drafted by the Cardinals this season...From Western Illinois University is another strong young prospect in 5-11, 208-pound DACE RICHARDSON. He hails from Springfield, Ill., and won four varsity letters in college... And from Far Rockaway, N.Y. where he may or may not have been a fan of Gen. George Patton, comes 6-1, 210-pound GEORGE C. SCOTT JR. Scott was a solid blocking back at the University of Maryland for a couple of seasons, then dropped out and played a year in the minor leagues with Chambersburg, S.C.

RECEIVERS—A two-year letterman at Kentucky who then concluded his college career at St. Peter's, is Jersey City native KEITH BETHEA, a 6-0, 175-pounder who played his high school sports at Snyder H.S. in Jersey City... Another metropolitan area native is TOM DONOVAN, a 5-11, 180-pounder who was born in Flushing, N.Y. and played at Penn State and was the 9th round draft choice of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1980. Released by the Chiefs, he impresses in an off-season mini-camp at Giants Stadium... From the University of Rhode Island, DAVE FRAGEORGIA is a 5-11, 185-pounder who is a native of Providence, R.I. and who earned four varsity letters in college... Also impressive in the off-season mini-camp was 6-3, 185-pound MAR SLAWSON, a native of Sherman, Tex., who earned himself four varsity letters at The Citadel, and some All-Conference honors there too... Also aboard for a look is yet another local product, tight end SAM BOWERS, a 6-4, 230-pounder who was born in White Plains, went to White Plains H.S. and then to Tennessee State and Fordham before getting a tryout with the New York Jets a year ago.

LINEMEN—Among the FA linemen reporting to camp are a half-dozen offensive linemen, including three centers. The list includes PAT CORNELIUS, 6-3, 250-pounder from Utah State who has had experience in the CFL with both Calgary and Ottawa... and from the San Francisco 49ers comes ERNIE HUGHES, 6-3, 265, a 3rd round draft choice of the 49ers in 1978 who went on to win All-NFL Rookie team honors that year as a guard. Ernie suffered from knee injuries the last two seasons, and after being released by the 49ers was signed by the Giants this past Winter. Hughes was an All-American at Notre Dame, winning four varsity letters at South Bend.

Another CFL product is 6-2, 260-pound BRUCE KIMBALL who played his collegiate football at the University of Massachusetts, then went with the Pittsburgh Steelers before heading for Canada and the Toronto team. Kimball is also listed as a guard-center... From the University of Colorado and a trial with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1980 comes guard BRUCE KIRSCHNER, 6-2 and 255 pounds. Kirschner has also played some center in both college and during his tryouts with the Chiefs... A native of East Orange, N.J. and a product of East Side H.S. in Newark and Rutgers University is tackle KEVIN KURDYLA, a 6-3, 260-pounder who won four varsity letters at Rutgers... Another offensive lineman who made a good impression during the mini-camp is 6-3, 270-pound JOE SHANTZ, a native of Springfield, Mo., who went on to have a fine four-year career as a guard and tackle at the University of Arkansas... As far as the defensive linemen are concerned, defensive tackle JIM BURT from the University of Miami has fine credentials as a nose tackle. The 6-1, 256-pounder, who hails from Buffalo, N. Y., won numerous honors in college, including Defensive Player of the Week and several All-American honors. Burt won four varsity letters at Miami, and in one game this past season, caused five fumbles in one game... and from the University of Maryland where he also won four varsity letters as a defensive lineman comes 6-4, 275-pound LARRY STEWART. A native of Portsmouth, Va., Stewart was the 10th round draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1980, but was released and then played minor league football.

SECONDARY, LINEBACKERS—A quartet of FA defensive backs will be reporting to training camp this year, including safetyman CHUCK COOK, a 6-1, 193-pounder from Southern Mississippi who won some All-Conference honors en route to winning four varsity letters... Cornerback N. L. EDWARDS is a 5-10, 175-pounder who played his college football at Southwestern Oklahoma State, and who also won Conference honors during his four varsity seasons... A product of Texas A&I where he won All-Southwest Conference honors is 6-1, 190-pound LARRY FLOWERS. Larry was the 4th round draft choice of Tampa Bay in 1980, was released and then signed by the Giants in August. He was injured in the pre-season game against Baltimore, and is now getting another long look at safety... And from Holy Cross where he also won four varsity letters comes cornerback BOB IRELAND, a 5-11, 190-pounder who was born in Brockport, N. Y.... A candidate at LB is 6-2, 230-pound JACK LAZOR, who hails from Warren, Ohio and who was a four-year letterman at Kent State University. Lazor had a trial with the New England Patriots in 1980.

SPECIALISTS—The only FA specialist is place-kicker CRAIG JONES, 5-11, 165-pounder from VMI who was in the Giants' camp a year ago. Jones booted 55 of 83 FG attempts in four seasons with VMI, with those 55 FGs the second highest in NCAA history to Tony Franklin, now with the Eagles.

THE 1980 SEASON IN REVIEW

September 7 GIANTS, 41 St. Louis, 35 (49,122) At St. Louis

The Giants began the 1980 season in flamboyant style, strafing the Cardinals 41-35 behind the aerial dynamics of quarterback Phil Simms and WR Earnest Gray. All told, Simms unfurled five touchdown passes while Gray was on the receiving end of nine catches and four of the TDs, with those four TD catches setting an alltime Giants' single game record. The Cardinals led 7-0 early in the first period, but a 66-yard punt return by Alvin Garrett set up Simms' first TD throw, a 10-yarder to Gray. Terry Jackson then intercepted Jim Hart at the St. Lou 37 and Simms promptly fired a 37-yard TD to Gray for a 14-7 lead. The Giants fell behind 21-17 early in the third period, but took the lead for good when Simms found WR Johnny Perkins for a 58-yard TD connection to make it 24-21. Rookie Mark Haynes intercepted Hart again in this period to position a Simms' 42-yar.d TD throw to Gray for a 31-21 lead, and after St. Lou closed to 31-28, Simms marched the Giants 77 yards in 15 plays for another score, this one a 20-yard TD strike to Gray for a 38-28 advantage. St. Lou rallied to close it to 38-35, but Joe Danelo's 33-yard FG with 1:17 to play closed out the scoring, and rookie safety Bud Hebert sealed the victory by intercepting Hart's last-ditch pass with a minute left to play. All told, Simms completed 16-of-31 for 280 yards, with Gray getting 174 yards on his nine receptions. The Giants sacked Hart four times, with DE Gary Jeter in on three of the traps, while punter Dave Jennings booted for a 47.6 average on five punts. Hebert, Haynes and Beasley Reece all had five tackles to lead in that area.

September 14 GIANTS, 21 Washington, 23 (73,343) At Giants Stadium

The Giants appeared to have a second straight win salted away in this home opener against the arch rival Redskins, holding a 21-20 lead into the final two minutes of play.

Instead, the Burgundy mounted a last-ditch drive which culminated in a 45-yard Mark Moseley FG which gave Washington a 23-21 triumph—their first win ever at Giants Stadium. At that, the Giants had one more chance after Moseley's FG, but after reaching midfield, Phil Simms' pass intended for WR Earnest Gray was intercepted by Lemar Parish to kill the final threat. Earlier, the Redskins had taken a 6-0 lead when Parish intercepted Simms at the Giants' 48 to set up a Joe Theismann 20-yard TD toss to Clarence Harmon. The Giants bounced back for a 51-yard scoring drive, led by rookie RB Larry Heater, with FB Mike Hogan scoring from a yard out for a 7-6 lead early in the second period, but then Washington went back in front 13-7 when Theismann, back to pass, was trapped at the Giants' 37, but scrambled loose for a 37-yard TD run down the sidelines. Back came the Giants again, this time on a 73-yard drive, with Simms coming up with a 32-yard TD pass to Alvin Garrett on a fourth-and-one situation for a 14-13 Giants' advantage. Washington then got on the board again 26 seconds before halftime when Mark Murphy intercepted Simms to position a 2-yard TD run by Wilbur Jackson. After a scoreless third period, the Giants mounted an 86-yard march early in the fourth period, with Simms firing a 35-yard TD pass to TE Tom Mullady to give the Giants the 21-20 lead. Alas, the defense couldn't contain Theismann that one last time, with Moseley booting the winning FG with two minutes to play after Theismann had hit on a key third down and 10 completion to position the winning FG. Simms finished the day with 12-for-29 for 174 yards, but had three interceptions and was sacked thrice as well. Heater was the leading rusher for the Giants with 57 yards in 15 carries, while Earnest Gray had seven catches for 63 yards. Dave Jennings continued his masterful punting with a 49.6 average on five kicks, while MLB Harry Carson had 12 tackles to lead in that department, with Brad Van Pelt and ex-Redskin Don Harris adding 10 tackles each.

September 22 GIANTS, 3 Philadelphia, 35 (70,767) At Philadelphia

The Giants' Monday Night Miseries continued as the Super Bowl bound Philadelphia Eagles capitalized on Giants' mistakes to cruise to a 35-3 triumph at Veterans Stadium. The Giants took a short-lived 3-0 lead in this one, taking the opening kickoff and moving all the way to the Eagles' 33 before the drive stalled and Joe Danelo boomed a 50-yard FG. The Giants then squandered another scoring opportunity—as they were to do twice more in the third period—when Danelo's ensuing onside kickoff was recovered by John Skorupan at the Philly 35. After reaching the Eagle 29, a penalty hoved the Giants back and Danelo's 52-yard FG attempt sailed wide left. Joe had another chance at another 52-yarder in the second period after the Eagles had taken a 13-3 lead, but that effort also sailed wide, and Philly retaliated with another brace of TDs for a 21-3 lead at the intermission. To start the second half, Danelo came up with another onside kickoff which Beaseley Reece recovered at the Eagle 30, but after reaching the Philly 7-yard line, two Phil Simms passes went awry, and then Danelo shanked a 25-yard FG attempt. The Giants came back still another time in this period, driving to the Eagle 5-yard line, but this time, Simms had one pass batted away, WR Earnest Gray fumbled one in the end zone, and a fourth down throw to Gray was caught by Earnest—but with one foot out of the end zone, and so that threat went South as well. The Giants got back into Eagle territory still another time in the early portion of the fourth period, but Simms was intercepted by Herman Edwards at the Philly 27 to kill that threat. Forced to throw the ball considerably, Simms finished with 21-of-49 for 184 yards, and those 49 attempts made it the second highest one-game total in club history to the 53 throws by Charlie Conerly in 1948. TE Tom Mullady had seven receptions for 65 yards to lead in that department, while ex-Eagle Mike Hogan was the Giants' leading rusher with 56 yards in 9 trips. LB Harry Carson had 12 tackles and LB John Skorupan added 9.

The Giants were never in this one and averted a shutout in the final seconds of play when rookie QB Scott Brunner fired a 19-yard TD pass to WR Johnny Perkins with two seconds left to play. The Giants dug themselves an early hole in the first two minutes when TE Gary Shirk fumbled the ball away after catching a first-down pass from Phil Simms at the Giants' 34-yard line. From there, the Rams moved in for the score in nine plays. Two series thereafter, Simms was intercepted by All-Pro safety Nolan Cromwell and that set up another L.A. scoring drive to give the Rams a 14-0 early advantage. That count went to 21-0 at halftime after a 78-yard Ram march, and it was a 28-0 runaway in the early moments of the third period after L.A.'s Vince Ferragamo threw a 60-yard bomb to WR Kent Hill to set up a final Ram touchdown. The Giants never did mount much of a threat against the formidable L.A. defense until late in the fourth period when runner, making his NFL debut in relief of Simms, led the club on a 62-yard march which culminated in his initial NFL touchdown pass to Perkins in the final seconds. Earlier, Brunner had fired a TD toss to WR Earnest Gray, but that six-point throw was negated by a penalty. The Giants managed only 62 yards rushing in the game, with rookie Larry Heater the leader with 41 yards on 12 carries. Simms was 10-for-23 for 131 yards before being relieved, and was sacked four times and intercepted once. Brunner went 5-for-13 for 59 yards in his final period work. Gray and TE Tom Mullady each had three receptions to set the pace there, while Dave Jennings continued his bombs-away punting with a 49.0 average on seven kicks. Rookie Mike Dennis had his second interception in as many games, while LB John Skorupan had 13 tackles to set the pace there.

The Giants yielded a gift field goal to the Cowboys in the opening moments of this one, then fell behind 17-0 at halftime and were never much in contention thereafter. The tone of the contest was set up on the opening kickoff when return specialist Alvin Garrett fumbled that kickoff and the Cowboys recovered at the Giants' 24. Rafael Septien's 38-yard FG resulted for a quick 3-0 lead in the opening minute. The Giants had a chance to knot it shortly thereafter when a Phil Simms to Billy Taylor pass covered 42 yards to the Dallas 16, but Joe Danelo missed a 33-yard FG try. Danny White's 46-yard TD pass to WR Tony Hill made it 10-0 in the second period, and after Danelo missed a 53-yard FG attempt, White hit WR Butch Johnson for a 29-yard TD to make it 17-0 with the Cowboys covering 85 yards in six plays in 1:07 against a prevent defense just before the half. It might have been even rougher for the Giants, save for the punting of Dave Jennings who kept the Cowboys pinned with five punts for a 54.0 yard average in that first half. The Giants finally got on the board in the fourth period with rookie Scott Brunner in at QB in relief of Simms when Taylor broke a 35-yard run to set up a 51-yard FG by Danelo, but the Cowboys retaliated when Too Tall Jones engulfed Brunner on a passing attempt, and the deflected toss was grabbed by DT John Dutton who rumbled 38 yards for the final touchdown of the long afternoon. In his first appearance of the regular season after injuring a knee in pre-season, Billy Taylor rushed 13 times for 76 yards and caught three passes for 86. Brunner was 9-for-19 for 92 yards in relief of Simms who hit on only 4-of-15 for 87. WR Johnny Perkins had four receptions for 47 yards. Danny White had a big day for Dallas with 22-of-33 for 226 yards, but the Giants defense was tough for the Cowboys' rushing game as Tony Dorsett was shackled to 26 yards on 15 carries and the Cowboys could manage only 85 yards rushing on 32 attempts for a 2.6 average. Rookie CB Mike Dennis had his third interception in as many games, while LB John Skorupan led in tackles with nine, with Harry Carson adding eight and Brad Van Pelt seven.

Giants jumped on the eventual NFC champion Eagles for a 16-3 halftime lead, then threatened to make that margin even larger when they recovered an Eagle fumble deep in Philly territory to start the second half. Alas, instead of capitalizing on the big lead, the Giants went into a complete swoon thereafter and the Eagles put 28 unanswered points on the board for a comeback 31-16 romp. The Giants got on the board in the first minute of play when safety Bud Hebert recovered an Eagle fumble on the second play of the game, and QB Phil Simms dove in for the TD and a quick 7-0 lead. Next, the Giants drove 57 yards in 13 plays for another touchdown, this one coming on Simms' 15-yard TD bullet to WR Johnny Perkins for a 13-0 lead. The Eagles' Tony Franklin booted a 41-yard FG to cut it to 13-3, but Joe Danelo answered with a 42-yard FG of his own for that 16-3 halftime lead. Then in the opening minutes of the second half, Ralph Perretta recovered an Eagle fumble punt in Eagle territory, but after reaching the Philly 32, a blocked Giant punt and reverse was thwarted by the Eagles. Thereafter, the Eagles ran roughshod the rest of the way, getting two touchdowns in each of the last two periods to win it going away. Simms finished the game with 14-for-33 for but 91 yards, was sacked three times and intercepted twice. The Giants managed only 82 yards rushing on 32 attempts, with Billy Taylor the leader with 29 yards. Bo Matthews had three receptions to lead in that department, while punter Dave Jennings continued to be a force with even boots for a 49.3 average. Defensively, MLB Harry Carson led the way with 12 tackles, while DE Gary Jeter was in on nine and LB Brad Van Pelt eight.

With Dan Fouts and his aerial circus putting on one of their most explosive performances of the year, the Giants suffered their worst setback of the season in this one. Fouts gunned the Giants down with 26 completions in 41 attempts for a staggering 444 yards and three TDs, with three Charger receivers—Charlie Joiner, John Jefferson and Kellen Winslow all going over 100 yards in receptions (Joiner 10-for-171; Jefferson 5-107; Winslow, 6-102). After a scoreless first period in which the only scoring opportunity for both teams was Joe Danelo's 54-yard FG attempt which went wide, the Chargers erupted for 21 points in the second with Fouts throwing for a pair of scores to Jefferson and Joiner. The Giants' only TD came next, and that on a gift when a bad snap sailed over the punter's head and was recovered on the S.D. two-yard line, with Billy Taylor getting the score to close it to 21-7. Fouts then went back to work for another TD to make it 28-7, and after the Giants had mounted a drive all the way to the S.D. 8-yard line, Phil Simms fumbled at that point and the Chargers recovered and drove 92 yards for still another score. Simms was 14-for-29 for 135 yards before giving way to Scott Brunner, while ex-Charger Bo Matthews was the Giants' leading rusher with 33 yards and also caught four passes, as did Billy Taylor. Dave Jennings averaged 46.8 on six punts, while Alvin Garrett tied an alltime club record by returning seven kickoffs in one game. Defensively, S Beasley Reece was in on 11 tackles, while rookie CB Mike Denni had eight tackles, an interception and five pass deflections during a very busy afternoon for Giant defensive backs.

October 26 GIANTS, 9 Denver, 14 (67,598) At Giants Stadium

The Giants had numerous chances to win this one against the Broncos, but failed to capitalize on those opportunities and went down to their seventh straight loss of the season. The Giants took the opening kickoff and drove all the way to the Broncos' 5 yard line, but then a holding penalty shoved them in reverse and instead of a TD, all they could muster was a 28-yard FG by Joe Danelo for a 3-0 lead. The next time the Giant had a chance, Phil Simms hit WR Earnest Gray for a 53-yard gainer to the Denver 20 but another holding penalty killed that gainer and scoring opportunity. Back came Denver to take a 7-3 lead on a drive which was helped considerably when the Giant were caught with only 10 men on defense and Bronco FB Jim Jensen took advantage by romping 32 yards to the Giants' 4-yard line from where the Broncos scored in three plays for the 7-3 lead. Back came the Giants with Simms hitting Gray for a 35-yard gain to th

Denver 17, but again, the drive stalled and Danelo's second 28-yard FG made it 7-6. Just before halftime, the Giants recovered a Craig Morton fumble and drove to the Broncos' 28-yard line, and again settled for a FG, this one a 45-yarder by Danelo for a 9-7 halftime lead. In the third period, the Giants blew another opportunity when Alvin Garrett returned a Bronco punt 55 yards to the Denver 10, but a clipping penalty on the return killed that chance. Back came the Giants still another time, but after getting into Bronco territory again, Simms was intercepted, with that swipe leading to an Otis Armstrong TD for a 14-9 Denver lead. The Giants rallied again, but Simms' 16-yard pass to WR Danny Pittman for a big first down was again killed by a holding penalty and that drive went for naught as the Broncos ran out the clock for the final six minutes of play. Simms finished with 19-of-36 for 200 yards, with Pittman the leading receiver with 6 catches for 79 yards. Billy Taylor had 48 yards to lead the rushers. Defensively, rookie LB Ben Apuna was in on 13 tackles and rookie safety Gary Woolford 12. The Giants held Craig Morton to 7-of-19 for just 65 yards passing, but Armstrong and Jensen rushed for 106 and 92 yards respectively.

Another bummer results in the eighth straight loss as Tampa Bay scored 13 points in the final 52 seconds of the first half to turn a 10-0 squeaker into a 23-0 romp! After the Bucs had taken that 10-0 lead on Ricky Bell's 21-yard TD burst and a 22-yard Garo Yepremian FG, the roof fell in during those final 52 seconds of the first half. First, Yepremian booted a 37-yard FG with just 52 seconds to play to make it 13-0. Then Phil Simms was sacked and fumbled with 27 seconds to go, with Doug Williams firing a 25-yard TD pass two plays after Tampa Bay recovered Simms' bobble at the Giants' 25. Then with four seconds to go, Billy Taylor fumbled at the Giants' 28, and Yepremian booted a 35-yard FG for that 23-0 bulge. The Giants had a chance in the third period when Gary Jeter sacked Williams and caused a fumble which Jeter recovered, but Simms was intercepted from the TB 20 to kill that threat. George Martin then recovered another fumble and this time, Simms hit TE Gary Shirk for an 8-yard TD, but the PAT failed when the snap was low. The Giants then marched again, this time to the TB 28, but Simms was intercepted again in the end zone, and after the Bucs made it 30-6 on a second TD by Ricky Bell, the Giants closed out the scoring with a 69-yard drive capped by RB Larry Heater's 1-yard plunge. Simms finished the day with 22-of-34 for 155 yards, with RB Billy Taylor catching 11 passes for 67 yards to tie an alltime Giant club record for most passes caught in one game. Taylor also had 56 yards rushing to set the pace in that department. LB Frank Marion was in on 14 tackles to lead the way there, while DE George Martin had two QB sacks and a fumble recovery.

November 9 GIANTS, 38 Dallas, 35 (68,343) At Giants Stadium

At long last, the drought is ended as the Giants with a 1-8 record and eight straight losses, upset the heavily favored Cowboys who came into this one with a 7-2 record. It was the first win for the Giants over Dallas at Giants Stadium and produced an awesome offensive attack which not only accumulated a season-high of 462 yards, but almost lost in the euphoria of the victory was the fact that the Giants had three other touchdowns called back because of penalties! At that, this wild and wooly contest seasawed back and forth until the final minutes in a 35-35 tie until Dallas went for a first down on fourth-and-one at their own 47, but Brad Van Pelt stopped Robert Newhouse for no gain and the Giants took possession. Then came a 40-yard flea-flicker pass from Phil Simms to rookie WR Mike Friede, making his first start, which set up Joe Danelo's clinching 27-yard FG with 1:00 to play. The game was then clinched when rookie safety Gary Woolford made his second interception of the game on Danny White. Earlier, Van Pelt had made two first half interceptions which led to a pair of Giant TDs as the club took a 28-21 halftime lead. Brad's first swipe led to a Simms' 25-yard TD pass to Earnest Gray, and the second to a 4-yard TD pass from Simms to DE George Martin who was in on offense as an extra tight end. Another interception by rookie CB Mike Dennis had led to a 1-yard TD by rookie RB Larry Heater, and then the first of Woolford's interceptions set up a 1-yard TD by rookie RB Leon Perry for that 28-21 halftime lead. The Cowboys then came back to take a 35-28 lead, but the Giants stormed back to knot it at 35-35 on Simms' 20-yard TD throw to TE Tom Mullady. Then came the defensive stand, the flea-flicker and Danelo's FG. Simms finished with 18-for-33 for 351 yards and three TDs, and had two other TD passes called back which would have given him five TD throws and 402 yards passing. Heater had 69 yards rushing and Perry 52 as the two rookies went all the way, while Friede, in his first start had seven catches for 137 yards, including several acrobatic grabs. The Giants had five interceptions, and a sixth one by Mark Haynes which Haynes returned 35 yards for a TD, was also nullified by a penalty! Defensively, rookie LB Joe McLaughlin, making his first start, had 10 tackles, while LB Frank Marion added eight.

November 16 GIANTS, 27 Green Bay, 21 (72,368) At Giants Stadium

After eight weeks of the shorts, the Giants made it two straight triumphs at home as Phil Simms put on his second consecutive aerial circus, passing for more than 300 yards for the second straight game—the first time a Giant QB had achieved that plateau since Y.A. Tittle did it in November of 1961. Simms had outstanding help from his wide receivers again, as rookie Mike Friede had his second straight 100-yard receiving game with six grabs for 108, and teammate Earnest Gray added 119 yards on six catches, including three TD receptions. The Simms-Gray combination wasted no time in this one. After the Packers had punted to midfield on their first possession, Simms promptly hit Earnest for a 50-yard TD bomb on the Giants' first play for a 7-0 lead. The Packers tied it in the second quarter when Simms was sacked and fumbled the ball away at the Giants' 23, and two plays later Gerry Ellis scored to tie it at 7-7. The Giants then drove 80 yards in eight plays with Simms capping that surge with a 20-yard TD pass to Gray for a 14-7 halftime lead. That went to 21-7 midway through the third period when Simms hit Gray for still another TD connection, this one a 4-yarder, after Friede had made two big receptions to keep this drive in motion. Green Bay retaliated to close to 21-14 at the end of the period, but another big catch by Friede positioned a 24-yard Joe Danelo FG for a 24-14 lead in the final period. GB came back again to score on an 8-yard TD catch by All-Pro James Lofton, but a 34-yard pass from Simms to TE Tom Mullady set up another Danelo FG, this one from 32 yards, to close out the scoring in the final 45 seconds of play. Simms finished with 17-of-33 for 322 yards and three TDs, with rookie Larry Heater the leading rusher with 75 yards. The Giants sacked GB's Lynn Dickey four times and intercepted him twice (by LB Frank Marion and SS Beasley Reece) with rookie DT Myron Lapka getting in on two of the QB sacks. Rookie CB Mike Dennis was in on nine tackles, while DE Gary Jeter was next with eight. Green Bay's Lofton had a big day with eight receptions for 175 yards.

After back-to-back offensive displays against Dallas and Green Bay, the Giants went back into the deep freeze against the 49ers, suffering their only shutout of the season as the suddenly revived 49er defense limited the Giants to 131 yards of total offense and sacked Phil Simms a total of 10 times for 67 yards in losses and a safety to boot! All of the 49er scoring came in the second period, after the Giants' only scoring chance in the first period went awry when Joe Danelo missed a 38-yard FG attempt. First, Joe Montana hit Earl Cooper for a 66-yard TD connection on a swing pass, then after Beasley Reece had intercepted a Montana pass in the SF end zone and run it out to the 7, Simms was sacked in the end zone for a safety and a 9-0 SF lead. The 49ers then added a field goal just before halftime for that 12-0 edge, which was to hold up despite several Giant scoring threats and one nullified touchdown in the second half. First, rookie Steve Henry intercepted Montana at the 49er's 32-yard line in the third period, and three plays later, Simms hit Earnest Gray for a 16-yard TD connection, but that was called back for a disputed holding call and that threat went by the boards. Next, in the fourth period Beasley Reece returned a SF punt all the way to the 49er's 30 yard line, and after Simms hit Mike Friede for 22 yards to the SF 8, Simms was sacked twice and had a pass go incomplete to kill that threat. Then, Alvin Garrett returned another SF punt back to the SF 24-yard line, but another penalty shoved the Giants back again and Simms' subsequent pass was intercepted. All told, Simms was 15-for-28 for 118 yards, but was sacked those 10 times to tie a club record for being sacked in one game. Friede had four catches for 55 yards to lead in that department, while Billy Taylor had 44 yards rushing. PR specialist Alvin Garrett ran back four punts for 73 yards. Defensively, MLB Harry Carson led the way with 13 tackles, but was injured late in the game (back injury) and was lost for the balance of the season. LB John Skorupan had seven tackles, and he too was lost for the rest of the year after suffering a knee injury in the fourth period.

Another bad day offensively for the Giants as the club could manage only 189 yards of total offense and seven points after having riddled the Cardinals for 41 points in the opening day victory. For the Cardinals, it was a case of "give the ball to Ottis Anderson," and the big back responded with 168 yards rushing on 31 carries and both St. Louis touchdowns. Neil O'Donoghue added three FGs for the rest of the Cardinals scoring. The first St. Lou score came on an 86-yard drive with Anderson carrying nine times for 52 yards on the drive and a 6-yard TD at the end of it. That made it 7-0 at halftime as the only Giants' threat was killed by safety Ken Stone who intercepted Phil Simms at the St. Lou 12-yard line. O'Donoghue's first FG made it 10-0 in the third period, and after Stone intercepted Simms again in this period and returned into Giant territory, O'Donoghue kicked another FG for the 13-0 lead. The Giants finally got into contention at the start of the final period with a 65-yard drive which was capped by Larry Heater's 10-yard TD sweep to cut it to 13-7, but Anderson then broke a 52-yard run to set up another O'Donoghue FG for a 16-7 Cardinal lead. Ottis put the icing on the cake late in the period when he broke away for an 18-yard TD to close out the scoring. Simms completed but 12-of-30 for 106 yards, was sacked four times and intercepted twice. Rookie Danny Pittman had four receptions, filling in for WR Mike Friede who suffered severe knee injuries early in the game and was lost for the rest of the season. Billy Taylor had 40 yards rushing on 11 carries to lead the Giants in that department, while Beasley Reece had his second interception in as many games. DE Gary Jeter and rookie LB Joe McLaughlin were each in on 12 tackles to set the pace there, while punter Dave Jennings continued his solid work with a 44.5 average on six punts.

Giants made their first-appearance ever at the Kingdome a good one as rookie Scott Brunner made his first NFL start at QB in place of an injured Phil Simms and threw a pair of long distance TD passes to WR Earnest Gray to set the pace in the 27-21 victory. At that, the Giants trailed 21-20 into the last two minutes and were faced with a fourth-and-one situation at the Seahawks' 30-yard line with 1:57 to play. Instead of trying for a 37-yard FG, the Giants went for the first down and were amply rewarded when RB Billy Taylor burst through a goal line defense for all 30 yards and the clinching touchdown. The 30-yard sprint gave Taylor 103 yards rushing for the game—the only 100-yard day by a Giant RB all season long, and Taylor's third in the past two seasons. Earlier, the Giants had taken a 13-0 lead when Alvin Garrett returned a punt 28 yards to set up a 43-yard Joe Danelo FG for a 3-0 lead, and then Danelo added a 32-yard FG for a 6-0 edge before Brad Van Pelt recovered a Seahawk fumble and Brunner promptly fired a 38-yard TD pass to Gray on the first play thereafter. Seattle closed to 13-7 at halftime on a 1-yard run by ex-Giant Dan Doornink, then took the lead at 14-13 on another 1-yard drive by Jim Jodat midway through the third period. The Giants then came back early in the final period with Garrett returning another punt 10 yards to midfield, from where Brunner hit Gray again, this time on a 50-yard TD bomb for a 20-14 Giants' lead. Back came the Seahawks on a drive of their own, with QB Jim Zorn hitting WR Steve Largent for a 34-yard TD and that 21-20 Seattle lead, which disappeared when Taylor made his big run in the last minutes of action. Brunner was just 8-for-18, but managed 161 yards with his pair of big connections to Gray. Taylor's 103 yards was tops in that department while LB Joe McLaughlin was in on 11 tackles to lead the way there.

Another close one goes against the Giants as the Redskins rallied first from a 10-0 halftime deficit and then from a 13-10 Giants' lead in the final 39 seconds of play to pull it out. Faced with a 3rd and 7 at the Giants' 16 with 53 seconds to play, the Skins got a first down on 9-yard draw play, then Joe Theismann threw a 7-yard TD pass to ex-Giant Bobby Hammond for the winning TD with just 39 seconds left. Earlier, the Giants had forged that 10-0 halftime lead on some strong defense and Redskin turnovers. The first score went up on the board early in the second period when a Giant drive reached the 'Skins' 31 from where Joe Danelo clicked with a 48-yard FG for a 3-0 advantage. Then later in the period, LB Brad Van Pelt made two big plays—an interception to thwart a Redskin drive, and then the big linebacker recovered a Redskin fumble and returned it 32 yards to the Washington 26 to set up a short drive which culminated in Billy Taylor's 1-yard TD burst for that 10-0 halftime lead. The Giants had another chance to add to the score in the first half when Beasley Reece recovered another 'Skin fumble and returned it 14 yards to the Washington 27, but a holding penalty and sack took that drive out of range. The Giants then handed the Redskins a gift TD in the first minute of the second half when rookie LB Joe McLaughlin took the second half kickoff and fumbled the ball away at his own 24. Three plays later, Washington had its first TD on an 11-yard run by Clarence Harmon to close to 10-7. Mark Moseley's 40-yard FG in the opening moment of the fourth period tied it at 10-10. Back came the Giants on a long sustained drive with Billy Taylor carrying most of the load, with Joe Danelo capping this move with a 39-yard FG for that 13-10 Giants' lead. Alas, with 3:00 to play, the Redskins got the ball back at the Giants' 48 and methodically moved it closer until Theismann hit Hammond with the winning flip. Rookie Brunner, in his second start, pitched 11-for-27 for 133 yards but was intercepted twice, while Taylor had his second straight strong game with 94 yards rushing and also had three receptions as did WR Earnest Gray. Defensively the Giants held Washington to 232 yards of total offense, with rookie LBs Kervin Wyatt and McLaughlin in on 10 and 9 tackles respectively, while DE Gary Jeter had four tackles and two QB sacks.

December 21 GIANTS, 17 Oakland, 33 (61,287) At Giants Stadium

The Giants came up with costly turnovers against the eventual Super Bowl champion Raiders in this season finale, with Oakland taking full advantage to score 20 of their 33 points as the result of those turnovers. Oakland took a quick 3-0 lead in this one on a 41-yard FG by Chris Bahr after an interference penalty on the Giants. Next, punter Dave Jennings had a punt partially blocked by LB Ted Hendricks, with Oakland recovering at the Giants' 11, from where Arthur Whittington took it in from 7 yards out for the 10-0 lead. Joe Danelo retaliated with a 47-yard FG early in the second period to cut it to 10-3, but the Raiders roared back again for a Jim Plunkett TD pass to Cliff Branch, and then another Bahr FG after QB Scott Brunner had been intercepted by Lester Hayes with the return going 50 yards to the Giants' 19. Then, the Giants closed to 20-10 on a 68-yard drive with Brunner throwing a TD pass of 11 yards to rookie Leon Perry. After the Giants made a tough goal line stand in the third period to hold the Raiders at bay after a first-and-goal at the 6, the Giants had another chance when Raider punter Ray Guy fumbled a snap and was dropped at midfield, but the Giants turned around to give it right back when Dave Jennings faked a punt, but was dropped for a 13-yard loss. Three plays later, Plunkett hit TE Raymond Chester for a 37-yard TD and a 27-10 lead. In the final period, the Giants closed to 27-17 on an 80-yard drive with Brunner completing six passes in the march which was capped by Billy Taylor's 1-yard TD in the final 30 seconds of play. The Giants then tried two unsuccessful onside kickoffs, because of penalties, and on the third onside, Oakland's Derrick Jensen fielded it untouched and ran, again untouched, 33 yards for the final TD. Brunner finished with 17-of-32 for 150 yards, while rookie Perry had 98 yards rushing and Billy Taylor 62. Danny Pittman had four receptions to lead in that department, while defensively, rookie LBS Kevin Turner and Kervin Wyatt each were in on eight tackles.

1980 PRE-SEASON RECAP

August 9 GIANTS, 0 Pittsburgh, 13 (43,395) At Giants Stadium

Pre-season opener against the defending champion Steelers proved that the Pittsburgh defense was as awesome as ever, as the Giants were limited to 122 yards of total offense during the shutout. Meanwhile, the Steelers piled up 494 yards of offense en route to the 13-0 victory, including 316 yards of rushing offense. At that, it was a scoreless game until the second period when QB Cliff Stoudt capped an 82-yard march with a 24-yard TD pass to WR Theo Bell. Pittsburgh made it 10-0 just before halftime when RB Ken Johnson fumbled the ball away to the Steelers at the Giants' 38 and Matt Bahr booted a 42-yard FG thereafter. Bahr added another 42-yard FG midway through the fourth period to close out the scoring. The Giants used three QBs in this one—with the trio collectively going 9-for-25 for 83 yards (Phil Simms, Scott Brunner and Dave Rader), while Mike Hogan had 22 yards rushing to lead in that department. Defensively, rookie safety Tony Blount had a big night with 13 tackles, while veteran LBs Frank Marion and John Skorupan added 11 each.

August 16 GIANTS, 9 Denver, 6 (30,904) At Giants Stadium

Still without a TD in pre-season play, the Giants nonetheless came up with a victory over the tough Broncos on three Joe Danelo field goals and some solid defensive play. With a minute to play and the score tied at 6-6, Danelo missed a 45-yard FG attempt, but Denver was guilty of illegal leverage on the play and Danelo's second chance from 24 yards with six seconds to play was good for the 9-6 triumph. Danelo's first FG in the opening period was a 46-yarder which gave the Giants a 3-0 lead, and that one was set up by a 28-yard punt return by Alvin Garrett. Denver then took a 6-3 lead when QB Norris Weese threw a 19-yard TD pass to ex-Giant Emery Moorehead, but Mark Haynes blocked the PAT attempt. Phil Simms then drove the Giants into position for a knotting 25-yard Danelo FG at halftime, and after a scoreless third and fourth period, Danelo won it with his final second 24-yarder. Simms was 11-for-19 for 135 yards passing, with TE Mullady having a big night with seven catches for 118 yards. Rookie CB Mike Dennis had his second interception in as many games and the Giants had seven QB sacks with Gary Jeter and George Martin each getting a pair. MLB Harry Carson had 9 tackles and a QB sack.

August 22 GIANTS, 20 Baltimore, 37 (27,163) At Baltimore

Giants finally got some offense going in the pre-season with 409 yards, but unfortunately, Bert Jones had one of his pedigree performances for the Colts with four

TD passes and 323 yards in the air to lead the way to the 37-20 romp. Baltimore rolled in a hurry, taking a 17-0 lead in the first period as Jones fired a pair of TD strikes to Mike Siani for 12 and to Ray Butler for 44 yards, before the Giants got on the board with Phil Simms tossing a 14-yard TD pass to Billy Taylor. But Bert came right back in the third period, hitting ex-Giant Brian DeRoo for a 55-yard TD and Butler for a 7-yarder to make it 30-6. Simms made it 30-13 with a 2-yard TD pass to Tom Mullady, but DeRoo caught a 39-yard TD toss from Greg Landry for a 37-13 lead before Doug Kotar closed out the scoring with a 1-yard TD run in the final period. Simms and Scott Brunner combined for 25-of-46 for 324 yards passing, with TE Tom Mullady having another big night with 6 catches for 95 yards. Defensively, the Giants sacked Colt QBs seven times, with Gary Jeter getting four and George Martin three. Jeter also had 12 other tackles in the game.

August 30 GIANTS, 7 Jets, 32 (74,391) At Giants Stadium

Pre-season finale proved to be a one-sided Jet victory as Walt Michaels' team looked in mid-season form. Early in the game, the Jets flashed their No. 1 pick WR Lam Jones, and he zoomed 90 yards for a TD with a Richard Todd pass for a quick 6-0 lead, with the PAT being blocked by Gary Jeter. The Giants then drove right back for a 7-6 lead with Phil Simms hitting TE Tom Mullady for a 19-yard TD, but that was about it for the Giants. Todd then threw two more TD passes in the second period to Bruce Harper, Pat Leahy added a brace of field goals in the third period, and then Todd wrapped it up with his fourth TD pass to Mickey Shuler to complete the romp. The Giants had two other scoring chances go awry when Simms fumbled at the Jet 4, and then Simms was intercepted after the Giants reached the Jet 7. Simms finished with 11-of-13 for 123 yards, while Billy Taylor had 45 yards rushing. Defensively, Harry Carson was in on eight tackles, while Gary Jeter and George Martin each had a QB sack. The Giants also lost veteran RB Doug Kotar with a knee injury, which shelved him for the entire season, and also lost Billy Taylor and Brian Kelley with knee injuries which would put Taylor out of action for six games during the season and Kelley for 14.

Look At The Past...

THROUGH THE YEARS

The New York Giants were the hook which held the ragged cloak of professional football's formative years.

The Giants franchise Timothy J. Mara bought in the summer of 1925 helped further football in a time when it was in danger of disintegrating for lack of money and public support. Mara held the line in New York. He kept the game alive. His tools were energy, family pride, money and a sure promotional touch. That he did so in a time when the sports headlines belonged to Babe Ruth and Bill Tilden... to Bobby Jones and Jack Dempsey... and to college football was remarkable.

Pro football? Few sports fans in New York had even heard of it, let alone seen it played.

Indeed, the game had much to be modest about in 1925. It was a shaky band of teams that called itself the National Professional Football League—then five years old. Made up of about 20 clubs—month-to-month changes made a hard number unattainable—this clumsy child of a league was manned by former All-America football players, aging Olympic stars, out of work baseball players, part-time cowboys, wrestlers, dock hands, factory workers and anyone else who felt he could play.

Club franchises in those days were bought, sold and moved about like rolling stock. A number of the 1925 teams failed. What little stability the young league had was entered in a combative ex-sailor named George Halas, who owned, coached and played for the Chicago Bears. Within 20 years this man would be known as Papa Bear, and his "cubs" as the fearsome "Monsters of the Midway."

Tim Mara's first contribution to this helter-skelter organization was $2,500, the price of the New York franchise. Some accounts put the figure at $500... that may have been the down payment. The Giants say $2,500.

His second contribution was to draw public attention to pro football. Toward that end, he tried to sign the great Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost from Illinois, but Halas and the Bears beat Mara to the prize. Mara wisely settled for second best—a final game in New York against the Bears, featuring Grange, but in a Bears'—not Giants'—uniform. Public support for the game was vital to the plucky Irishman's football future. If Mara could fill the Polo Grounds, the Giants' home stadium, he'd break even. If not, New York, as a professional football town, might well have to go the way of Dayton, Rochester and Columbus as league dropouts.

That game against the Bears on December 6, 1925, turned out to be the first miracle at Coogan's Bluff. Archives of the day relate how an estimated crowd of 70,000 fans jammed the Polo Grounds, swarmed over temporary field bleachers, climbed rooftops and literally hung from the rafters in order to catch a glimpse of the fabled Galloping Ghost.

The Bears beat the Giants 19-7, with Grange scoring once on an interception. More important, however, was the enthusiastic reception the game evoked from the press and the fans. They loved the spectacle. That winter, Tim Mara and the other NFL franchise owners drew strength from the belief that professional football, given star players, the proper setting and enough publicity, could become a respectable—and profitable—enterprise.

But neither Mara nor the league were out of the financial woods yet. Spurred by the success of the Giants-Bears game, a promoter known as C. C. (Cash-and-Carry) Pyle, who held the rights to Red Grange's services, organized a rival pro league in 1926 and fielded competing teams in Yankee Stadium, just across from the Polo Grounds, and in Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

It was a case of too much pro football, too soon, played before too few spectators. Before the 1926 season ended, the rival league folded.

And so, very nearly did the Giants. Dogged by bad weather, poor attendance and higher payrolls as a result of bidding against Pyle for player talent, Mara and the surviving league owners found themselves in dire straits. But they prevailed with wool uniforms, through coach travel on trains, in cheap hotels and with reduced squads; they scraped enough money together to keep their franchises operating through 1927 and 1928.

Keystone for survival were the Giants. As long as Mara could turn out a team in New York, with its many newspaper and radio outlets and its great population, there was hope for professional football.

Mara made his next major contribution to pro football in 1929 when he signed Benny Friedman, Michigan's triple-threat quarterback. Friedman's contract was held by the Detroit Wolverines. In order to sign him, Mara had to buy the Wolverines.

With Friedman in New York and Grange back in the NFL at Chicago, the Giants and the NFL began to jell. Schedules were formalized and followed. Player contracts ran for an entire season, rather than game by game. Newspapers carried accounts of games and league standings.

By now traditional rivalries between the Giants, the Green Bay Packers and the Bears had been firmly established. Excitement generated by the visitors from the midwest was enough to keep the league and its teams solvent through the depression years.

It was from this bleak period that the Giants' influence on the league shifted from personalities to game strategy. In 1931 Mara named Steve Owen head coach—a job Owen had shared with Friedman in 1930. The move had a profound effect, not only on the Giants, but on the game itself. Owen, a massive tackle who had practically filled one side of the Giant line in his playing days, became a coach whose trademark was his defensive line play and a tenacious pass defense.

So successful were Owen's coaching tactics that they brought the team six division titles and two league championships in the 10 years between 1931 and 1941.

Owen is remembered for his famed "umbrella" defense against the pass. It had a six-man defensive line, one linebacker and four defensive backs—the 6-1-4 defense. But as the opponent's pass play developed, the two outside defensive linemen dropped back instead of rushing the passer, to form a semicircle secondary, resembling the top of an open umbrella. This defense prompted many NFL coaches to adopt the four-man line, but it remained for one of his player-coaches, defensive back Tom Landry, to ultimately refine it (after World War II and under a later Giants' coach, Jim Lee Howell) into the 4-3-4 defense—the dominant defense of the past three decades.

Pro football, however, travels in cycles and in time the opposition solved Owen's defense with new attack patterns. Young, imaginative coaches led by Paul Brown introduced a more open style of play—multiple offenses and the option. Steve Owen's coaching career with the Giants ended in 1953.

His successor was Jim Lee Howell, a soft-spoken giant of a man who had played and for Owen in the years before and after World War II, and who had become the team's first end coach in 1948.

Howell's leadership brought a new structure to the club. A man who believed in delegating authority, he handed the defensive responsibilities to Tom Landry. It was under Howell that Landry perfected the standard 4-3-4 defense that popularized play in the '60s.

1954 was also the year Howell brought into the Giants' organization a man whose impact on the game would become a legend—Vince Lombardi. As Howell's first lieutenant and offensive coach, Lombardi introduced the power sweep with its intricate pulling and trapping lineman and crushing double-team blocks. Lombardi restored the ground game to prominence in pro football.

Eventually, Howell's people would flourish in the NFL. Included were seven former Giants players or coaches who had held or were holding head coaching jobs in the National Football League: the late Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins; Tom Landry, Dallas Cowboys; Dick Nolan, San Francisco 49ers and New Orleans Saints; Harland Svare, San Diego Chargers; Alex Webster, Giants; Bill Austin, Pittsburgh Steelers and Redskins; and Ed Hughes, Houston Oilers.

Out of the Howell regime, too, came a dozen or more assistant coaches, including Glenn Tunnell, the first black coach in the game. And for what it reveals about the intelligence and versatility of his old crew, a number of broadcasters—Frank Gifford, Gayle Rote, Pat Summerall, Al DeRogatis and Sam Huff. There are sound reasons why the Giants' organization is referred to as Mara Tech.

However you would define the influence of Mara's Giants on pro football—persistence in the face of adversity, timely promotion, pluck, coaching leadership, player ability—it adds up to what the NFL needed most in the early days and what it utilized later in its growth years.
